INJURED FANS WAIT FOR TREATMENT

Death, Panic Mar Stadium Inaugural

TERESINA, Brazil (AP) — Four soccer fans were crushed to death and more than 100 others were injured when panic broke out during the inaugural game at a stadium in a small Brazilian city, police said Monday.

The incident happened Sunday afternoon in Teresina, capital of the remote northern state of Piaui. The governor and 35,000 fans had packed into a new stadium to watch Teresina's first game ever in Brazil's national professional soccer tournament.

Early in the first period of a match between local team Tiradentes and the famous Fluminense club of Rio de Janeiro fans began scrambling to climb over a high fence that separated the grandstand from the playing field, witnesses said.

Police and state officials said they did not know what caused the panic. There were rumors that someone in the crowd had yelled that the stadium was collapsing. Another version said a fight started after a fan threw a bottle at another person.

The game was suspended for nearly two hours, as policemen and firemen restored order and rushed injured fans to local hospitals. The teams decided to resume play, to help calm the crowd, and the game ended in a scoreless tie.

Police confirmed the death toll but did not identify the victims. Local newsmen said they were three middle-aged men and a boy around 18.

Piaui is regarded as this South American country's poorest and most backward state. There had been much excitement preceding Teresina's entry into Brazil's major soccer league. Gov. Alberto Silva grabbed the public address microphone at the stadium and told the fans the near-riot "will not affect our state's progress."

Bandit, Hostages Still in Vault

Bank Standoff Continues

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — A convicted murderer, "have turned the vault into a torture chamber. They are extremely brutal. What's happening down there makes me want to throw a bottle at another person."

A police spokesman said the bandit fired a burst of bullets from his weapon at the drillers. One of the bullets hit the hand of a policeman, who was hospitalized.

The incident occurred as hundreds of police worked on a secret plan to capture the gunman and a convict friend with him in the locked vault and rescue the hostages.

Police Superintendent Aake Aakesson said the gunman had carried out "extremely brutal" acts against the three female hostages but that he could not confirm rumors the gunman, Jan-Erik Olsson, 32, had repeatedly raped one of the hostages, a 31-year-old mother of two.

One police officer, who refused to be identified by name, said Olsson and his accomplice Clark Olofsson, 26, men that police had begun drilling new holes into the 10 by 40 foot vault to make "better observations possible."

Police drilled three holes early Monday into the roof of the two-foot-thick vault and had planned to inject knockout gas into the chamber. But the drilling "topped" when Olsson warned he had tied a noose around the hostages' necks in such a way that they would strangle when the gas knocked them out.

Olsson has repeatedly threatened to kill the hostages since the drama began last Thursday, when his plans to rob the bank went sour. He has since demanded safe passage but Premier Olof Palme Monday night joined police officials in refusing to meet the demand.

Aakesson said police today had talked to Olsson and his convict companion, Clark Olofsson, 26, brought to the bank Thursday on Olsson's demand, about sending down more food, water and sanitary facilities. He said the hostages — one man and three young women bank clerks, all in their 20s — were asleep in the 40-by-10-foot vault.

But Aakesson refused to say what the new police plans were to capture the convict and free the clerks.

Stockholm Police Chief Kurt Lindroth in an emotional news briefing Monday called Olsson a "beast" who might very well make good his promise to kill the hostages if police tried to get at him.

Lindroth said police were now relatively convinced that Olsson had planned the bank robbery with Olofsson when they served time in the same prison earlier this year.

Ulster Sewage Plant ... Facts Presented

By CARL GRAHAM

TOWN OF ULSTER — The Town of Ulster expects to have its sewage treatment plant completed and operating on a limited basis in about eight weeks.

Supervisor Carmine Sabino told an audience of 200 at an informational meeting Monday night at Chambers School that the plant will be used to treat effluent from the IBM plant and the portion of the sewer district extending from the Kingston

School (Area 3A) where work has been started on sewer interceptor lines.

The sewer system extending from Chambers School to Route 209 (Area 3B) and the other from Route 209 to Legg's Mills Road (Area 3C), are about 30 per cent completed. SiteCon Industries of Greenwich, Conn., abandoned the projects June 8, saying that it was impossible to complete the work for the money in the contracts ($2 million). The town has rebid the work and will open bids September 6.

The two incomplete areas furnished numerous questions from the audience, with residents there wanting to know if they would have to begin paying the special sewer district assessment before they are hooked up.

Seymour Werbalowsky, town attorney, said that the State Comptroller had ruled that everyone must pay. He said he was checking with the comptroller's office and the Office of Local Government to see if there was any way to furnish relief for those whose sewer lines are not yet installed, but that he had little hope for a favorable ruling.

Sabino said that IBM, which now operates its own sewage treatment plant, will construct a 600-foot line to connect its system to the new town plant, located near the Esopus Creek to the northwest of IBM. Effluent from IBM will be used to check operation of the new plant, which has a capacity of 1.2 million gallons a day.

As soon as possible thereafter residents of Area 3A will be notified that the town is ready to accept their sewage and they will then have 90 days to hook their homes to interceptor lines.

Werbalowsky said that an Albany legal firm specializing in bonding and contracting work had been hired to handle litigation against SiteCon. The town has about $1.5 million of the original $2 million of their contract left and Sabino said that if new bids on September 6 are above that amount the sewer district will sue SiteCon for the excess.

Other points brought out at the meeting:

- Homeowners can do their own hookup work if they have a certificate of insurance, a working knowledge of piping and fitting, proper tools, and test plugs for testing, but actual hookup to sewer interceptors must be done by a licensed plumber.

- All parts of the home sewage system must be hooked up, including such items as kitchen drains that now flow into dry wells.

- Permits will be available to homeowners to begin hooking up in areas where interceptors are completed.

up in areas where interceptors are completed.

- The town will check with the Ulster County Health Department to see if homeowners are required to fill in septic tanks after hooking into the sewage system, and will make an announcement as soon as a ruling is received.

- The Comptroller's Office has ruled that the town can go to a list of "preferred contractors" to complete interceptor work in districts 3B and 3C, as announced by Sabino. (Asked if SiteCon had been on a preferred list, Sabino said that they had won the contract in open bidding.)

- Contracts call for roads to be restored to original condition within one year of completion of sewer line work.

Orientation Speaker at Paltz College

Leader in Feminist Movement Touches All the Bases

By TIM SCHUSTER

NEW PALTZ — Recounting tales of the feminist movement and fielding questions from the student-dominated audience at SUNY New Paltz Monday night, Wilma S. Heide presented a picture of firm determination.

Ms. Heide has been president of the National Organization for Women (NOW) since the beginning of 1972, having been involved in the women's movement on various levels for years.

The short, middle-aged forceful speaker was at SUNY at the invitation of the New Paltz Women's Alliance as part of this fall's freshman orientation program.

And she belied the contention of some that "women's libbers" are without a sense of humor. "We just know the difference between humor and insult," she declared, punctuating her hour talk with anecdotes that brought laughter and applause from the several hundred persons present.

She came right to her main point in making the following statements: "There are only two jobs for which a man is not qualified — a human incubator and a wet nurse. And there is only one job closed naturally to a woman — a sperm donor. All other roles are learned, bar none," she said.

Ms. Heide began her talk with a mental experimentation exercise in which she asked all females to imagine they were males and had been all of their lives, then asking them what they wanted to do with the rest of their lives.

"If the answers are different, then why?" she asked, adding that any college without studies in sexuality and feminism was not doing its proper job.

The NOW president spoke of the difficulties encountered in bringing the Equal Rights Amendment to its present stage (passed in Congress and ratified by 30 of the necessary 38 states thus far) and declared that for 50 years the Amendment was "one of the best kept secrets in the country."

And speaking of demonstrations for the amendment

before the subcommittee in charge she alleged, "We embarrassed them into doing it."

On some other subjects: "The things we are taught are feminine and ladylike hinder our being assertive and effective."

On Politics: "A white male club is not democracy."

On involvement: "I notice every woman's hand is out for the benefits we have had our necks out for."

On feminism: "Feminism does not mean feminine supremacy; it is precisely the fact of supremacy that we are against."

On poverty: "If you don't do another thing, write to President Nixon and ask him to sign the minimum wage bill as an act of conscience, perhaps his first."

And on women's liberation: "Women's liberation means putting sex in its place."

Touching on Watergate she commented, "The reason women had nothing to do with Watergate is not that they didn't have the capacity, they just didn't have the opportunity."

Ms. Heide said that NOW's emphasis this year is on poverty in this country because "most victims are women and children, no matter whose statistics you use."

And she forecast that the seven-year-old organization begun by Betty Friedan, with some 600 chapters and 40,000 members, would soon become a world organization, with the acronym for World Organization for Women (WOW).

County Board Rejects Petitions of Dye, Stedje

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON County Legislator Douglas V. Dye, who seeks reelection in the Town of Ulster, and Robert Stedje, who seeks reelection in the Town of Kingston, were rejected by the Ulster County Board of Elections.

Mullany Defends Nomination as Legal

KINGSTON through many court decisions in similar cases is a reluctance to interfere in intra-party rules. Meanwhile, Democratic County Chairman Harold Brown expressed surprise and indignation over the protest calling it "an example of poor politics unbecoming a judicial candidate."

"If the Democratic Party is not to be allowed to nominate candidates then what is the point of holding an election?" contest involved Mullany and Republican Bernard A. Feeney Jr. for the second Family Court Judgeship.

"Such is not the case, however, for the election ballot provides that voters may choose any two of the three candidates. In this light," Brown said, "Judge Elwyn's protest seems to be a serious attempt to deprive the voters of a choice in November."

Mullany's candidacy was challenged last week by incumbent Family Court Judge Hugh R. Elwyn who maintained there was a lack of a quorum at the convention nominating Mullany and that it was not a proper convention in that there was a lack of notice of the meeting.

"He's dead wrong on that," Mullany replied today saying that according to Election Law "there is no requirement for a quorum with respect to notice" and that the unofficial convention that nominated him Aug. 21 was a reconvened meeting of the Democrats' March 29 convention at which delegates were elected to those nominees for county office.

He said he would welcome the Supreme Court's calling another convention in view of Judge Elwyn's objection. He also noted that the theme running through many court decisions in similar cases is a reluctance to interfere in intra-party rules.

Mullany, who said he is a candidate for Family Court Judge because of "a gut sense of shame" that the Democrats had no one running when two judgeships were up for grabs, defended the legality of his nomination in a statement today.

NYC Teenager Killed

WALKER VALLEY A New York City teenager was killed instantly Monday afternoon when his car slammed into a tree on Route 52 near Walker Valley in southern Ulster County.

Panagiotis Balis, 19, was pronounced dead at the scene with massive head and internal injuries.

Ellenville state police said Balis was operating his car east on Route 52 in the Town of Shawangunk at an apparently high rate of speed when the vehicle swerved out of control and struck the tree. Police said the car was totally demolished. In Dutchess County, meanwhile, a 49-year-old Poughkeepsie physician died Monday from an apparent fall from his bicycle.

The Dutchess County Sheriff's Department reported that Dr. Stanley Banneberg was riding with his wife and two small children when he fell off his bicycle and struck his head on the pavement. An autopsy will be performed.

In Sullivan County, 75-year-old Lillian Frankel was killed when she attempted to run across the Quickway near Parkville. She was standing with her husband on the shoulder of the road when she suddenly darted into the highway, and was struck by a passing car. No summons was issued. The driver was not identified.

And in Kingston, eight-year-old Alan Phelps remains in satisfactory condition today at Kingston Hospital after his right arm was broken in two places when he fell off his bicycle Monday in Forsyth Park.

AIM Leader Shot by Fellow Indian

WINNERS, S.D. (UPI) — Clyde Bellecourt, co-founder of the militant American Indian Movement (AIM), was shot and critically wounded at the Rosebud Sioux Reservation Monday, apparently by a fellow AIM leader.

It was the first major violence among AIM hierarchy since the group was founded in 1968.

Carter Camp, 29, AIM national chairman from Ponca City, Okla., was arrested late Monday in Nebraska and charged with the shooting. Camp, his brother, Craig Kelly Camp, 27, and Leroy Cadados, 33, of Alliance, Neb., all have been named in federal warrants charging them with assault with a deadly weapon.

The warrants were issued after Bellecourt was shot in the stomach in the front yard of the home of a friend on the reservation.

Camp was apprehended without a struggle. He was unarmed. The other two suspects were still at large.

Top AIM leaders called a vigil today at the Baptist Hospital where Bellecourt, a Chippewa, is hospitalized.

No reason was given by police or AIM leaders for the shooting.

"We are as puzzled as everyone else as to how and why this shooting happened," said Russell Means, an AIM national leader. "We're looking into it. We're conducting our own investigation."

"There are three theories about the shooting so far," Means said. "The first is a conspiracy to assassinate AIM leaders from within or without. The second is that it could have been an accident, or it could have been a spontaneous anger thing."

"It definitely wasn't a sign that our leadership was weakening," Means said.

Means, one of the leaders of the 1-day AIM led occupation of Wounded Knee on the Pine Ridge Reservation, said Bellecourt, Camp and he were among the AIM leaders who were guests at the home of a friend, Sidney Ear, for the annual Rosebud Tribal Fair and Powwow.

"I saw Carter Camp holding a pistol and pointing it in the direction of Clyde Bellecourt," Means said. "Clyde doubled over immediately after he was hit. He was hit in the gut and went into shock almost immediately. He ran through the house and out the back door, and I had to tackle him."

Means said the Camp brothers and Cadados drove away in two vehicles while he was out in the back yard with Bellecourt.

Phnom Penh's Sea Highway Reopened

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — A government armored column smashed through Khmer Rouge positions on Highway 4 today, reopening Phnom Penh's highway to the sea, said the Cambodian general in command.

The Cambodian capital's other major supply road, Highway 5 to the rice belt in the northwest, still was blocked by the insurgents. But a tug pulled 750 tons of ammunition up the Mekong River from South Vietnam without being attacked. It was the second convoy to sail up the river in four days.

Associated Press photographer Horst Faas reported from Highway 4 that a dozen armored personnel carriers and some 300 infantrymen pushed through a road crossing at Thnal Totoeng, 18 miles west of Phnom Penh, and began patrolling both sides of the highway.

The general commanding the Cambodian force told Faas that the Khmer Rouge insurgents had withdrawn a mile off the road after being pounded with artillery and heavy mortars. The general said traffic had resumed on the highway and some of the first vehicles moving toward Phnom Penh were ambulances loaded with government soldiers wounded farther down the highway.

Military sources also reported progress on Highway 5. They said a government force had cleared all but two miles of a nine-mile stretch by dusk Monday and were continuing operations to reopen the road.

U.S. sources said that, although Highway 4 to the coast and Highway 5 to the rice belt in northwest Cambodia have been cut since last weekend, they knew of no food emergency in the city swollen by refugees to a population of 1.5 million.

The Americans refused to say whether the U.S. government would fly in food should the situation worsen.

Although the rice supply appeared plentiful for the moment, food prices were increasing. Pork, for example, rose from $1.60 a pound to $1.78, and a 220-pound bag of rice increased $4.

The Cambodian military command reported the village of Kompong Luong, 19 miles northwest of Phnom Penh on Highway 5, was shelled Monday night and 20 persons were wounded.

Cambodia's deposed chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, claimed in Peking that the insurgents now control more than 90 per cent of the country and "must take Phnom Penh at all costs." Hsinhua, the official Chinese news agency, said this was part of a message of congratulation from Sihanouk to the "Cambodian people's national liberation forces."

In South Vietnam, the government reported that Viet Cong sappers blew up an ammunition dump at Nam Can, in the southern Mekong Delta, killing one civilian and destroying or badly damaging 36 houses.

The Saigon government also reported a mortar attack of 70 rounds on the town of Tam Quan in Binh Dinh Province on the central coast that killed seven persons and wounded 20 others. It also reported a shelling three miles southwest of Quang Ngai that killed three more civilians and wounded four others.

The Viet Cong also continued harassing attacks on government outposts southwest of Kontum, in the central highlands; and Saigon said 13 of the attackers and four government troops were killed.

North Vietnamese Build Large Base

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pentagon officials say the North Vietnamese have built a larger military base at Khe Sanh, South Vietnam, than even the United States had there when the U.S. Marines spent months outlasting a Communist siege in 1968.

The officials said there was virtually nothing but jungle growth found around Khe Sanh from the time the Americans vacated the base in the northwestern corner of South Vietnam until just after the January cease-fire.

Since then the North Vietnamese have made it the hub for their operations in the region. They have, according to the officials:

—Moved into the Marines' 3,400-foot unlighted air field and built a new and better 5,300-foot runway with lights allowing 24-hour-a-day operations. However, they have yet to land a plane there, so far as American officials know.

—Built an operations and communications center of 100 buildings about three miles from the air strip.

—Arrayed about 125 anti-aircraft guns within five miles of Khe Sanh and constructed four surface-to-air missile (SAM) sites to protect the base should the Americans or South Vietnamese ever decide to attack by air.

—Built a new road, with at least two steel bridges running about 170 miles south into Kontum Province to move supplies more quickly to their troops. Officials said transport time from Hanoi has been cut in half. The road also can be used in all seasons, whereas the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos was an annual victim of the monsoon.

—Brought in a fleet of 4,000 to 5,000 trucks to distribute supplies.

One official going through aerial photographs taken by pilotless drones flown over the area said, "This is much larger than our setup during the siege."

He said the North Vietnamese appeared to be "developing options." He explained that the buildup did not necessarily mean Hanoi had decided to launch a new offensive but that the North Vietnamese would have much better supply lines should they choose that option, and would have an airfield that could hold their MIG fighters and 1128 Beagle bombers should they want to bring those planes into play in the south.

Officials said Saigon was being "restrained" from flying its planes against Khe Sanh since this would be a violation of the cease-fire. Washington, they said, also wants to keep trying the diplomatic route for pressing Hanoi to halt the violations.

New Peace Proposals Submitted to Syria

By United Press International
U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim Monday submitted new peace proposals to the Syrian government aimed at solving the Middle East crisis, diplomatic sources in Damascus said today.

At the same time, Egypt announced that President Anwar Sadat had just ended a secret tour of oil-rich Persian Gulf countries, where he mapped plans to use Arab oil as a weapon against Israel.

Syria was the first Arab stop for Waldheim in his five-nation tour of the Middle East. U.N. spokesmen maintained the trip was only a fact-finding tour and that Waldheim would raise no new peace plans.

But diplomatic sources in Damascus said Waldheim met with Foreign Minister Abdel Halim Khaddam Monday and made a number of proposals to break the Middle East deadlock.

Although the plans were not disclosed, the sources said Khaddam told Waldheim he would confer with Syrian President Hafez Assad before meeting Waldheim again today.

The official Syrian government party newspaper Al Baath said today Syria would not accept any new proposal that would allow Israel to continue occupying Arab territory.

Wine Scandal In France

PARIS (UPI) —The finance ministry acknowledged Monday that tax inspectors were looking into reports of a wine scandal involving cheap red wine sold under famous Bordeaux labels.

But it said the investigation was not directed against specific individuals and that it was too early to tell whether any charges would be brought against anyone.

The ministry, apparently trying to play down the controversy, said 6,000 similar checks were carried out in 1972 and their only aim was to insure that drinkers were getting the proper quality wine.

The scandal erupted last week when Paris newspapers disclosed revenue agents were investigating the bottling of cheap wine and labeled with prestigious and expensive names.

The newspaper Le Figaro said the scandal was attacking "the reputation of French wines abroad. It's a very important point."

The Interprofessional Council of Bordeaux winegrowers met over the weekend and asked the ministry "that the conclusions of the inquiry be published as quickly as possible."

Hurley Board Files Camp Plan

The Hurley Town Board has apparently rejected a proposal by Rosendale Supervisor Gerald Defelicio for the two towns to purchase Camp Unity, the Italian-American Civil Rights complex in Rosendale, for recreation and landfill purposes.

Hurley Town Clerk Raymond Croswell said the town board voted to "file" the letter from Defelicio. "It doesn't look like we can afford something like that," Croswell said. "They're talking about $240,000 or so, each."

Defelicio told the Freeman that he had met with Hurley Town Supervisor George Schroeder immediately after learning that the 225-acre complex was for sale, with a proposal to purchase the property and establish a joint landfill-recreation area. Defelicio said he later found out that the Department of Environmental Conservation would not approve it for a landfill and that state funds would not be available to purchase it for recreational purposes. Defelicio says he isn't giving up on the idea and will continue to pursue it. The Italian-American Civil Rights League opened Camp Unity in 1971 but now has it up for sale. The Ulster County Legislature has been approached but has yet to make a decision on buying it.

In other action, the Hurley Town Board voted to transfer $12,000 from the highway miscellaneous account to the general account to cover the remainder of road work for 1973.

Authorized the purchase of a police car from Johnson Ford after getting prior approval from the Department of Audit and Control; Johnson Ford submitted the only bid.

Accepted the resignation of Mrs. Shirley Marquis as secretary to the Zoning Board of Appeals and appointed Mary Boucher of West Hurley.

It was also announced that Chief Constable Philip Sinagra will hold a seminar on motorbikes on Sept. 7 at the West Hurley Firehouse. Sinagra's seminar will detail the lawful use of motorbikes and the penalties for breaking the law.

Two young women identified as Miss Smedman and Miss Gordon appeared before the town board to complain about persons racing motorbikes around the old Hurley Cemetery. The town board will investigate the situation with the possibility of installing either fences around the historic cemetery or floodlights.

Authorization was given to advertise for bids for the operation of the town landfill on Steamkill Road for next year. Kenley and Sons of Route 28 operate it now.

A public hearing set for Monday night just prior to the town board meeting, concerning the abandonment of Spring Road in West Hurley, wasn't held since the adjoining property owners weren't notified. Another public hearing has been set for Sept. 24 at 7:30 p.m. at the town hall.

The town board will meet in special (executive) session on Sept. 13 to discuss the status of the Alpine Trailer Park off DeWitt Mills Road with its owner, Reginald Russell, his attorney, S. James Matthews, and members of the county health board, and the Hurley Zoning Board of Appeals and Hurley Planning Board. Town officials contend that Russell is bringing in trailers without town permits.

And, representatives from the Hurley Fire Company have petitioned the town board to rename the street in front of the Firehouse from Depot Street to Wamsley Place in honor of Kenneth Wamsley, a fire fighter killed in the line of duty "many years ago." A date for a public hearing on that request will be announced.

Suicide Attempt at Jail

KINGSTON

The man accused in the August 20 strangulation murder of a 37-year-old Bronx woman tried to hang himself in his cell at the Ulster County Jail Sunday night, the Ulster County Sheriff's Department reported today.

Twenty-one-year-old William Duono of the Bronx was cut down immediately by the deputy on duty at the jail. He was not injured, and was examined by a physician at the jail Monday morning.

A spokesman for the Sheriff's Department said Duono attempted to hang himself by tearing off a part of his bed sheet, tying one end to the top of the cell bars and the other end around his neck.

Police said Duono was suspended in the makeshift noose for only "a matter of seconds" before the deputy on duty rushed into the cell and cut him down. Duono did not lose consciousness, said police. Sheriff William B. Martin said

Duono left a handwritten note in his cell. The contents of the note, however, were not released.

The incident occurred Sunday at 11:50 p.m. Since Duono displayed no apparent physical injuries, he was not transported to a hospital.

Police said today that all possible precautions are taken to prevent such occurrences, but that sometimes they are unavoidable. Each prisoner forfeits his right to shoe laces, belts and other similar articles when arriving at the jail, but the county is nevertheless required to supply each inmate with a bed sheet and blanket.

The cells themselves are lined with sheer steel, with no hooks or other devices that can be used to support a rope or torn sheet. Duono, said police, found the only possible method for a suicide by hanging: by tying the sheet to the cell bars.

Duono was arrested August 20 by Hurley state police and charged with the strangulation murder of Consuelo Norma Reyes. The woman's body was found in a heavily wooded area about 150 feet from the Villa Garcia, a resort located on the Plattekill-Ardonia Road in the Town of Plattekill.

Police said Duono, Mrs. Reyes and several others traveled to the Villa Garcia from New York City for the weekend. Duono was arrested in New York City.

Duono was in jail awaiting preliminary hearing before Town of Woodstock Justice Rudolph Baumgarten on the murder charge. The New York City man now faces the possibility of being charged with attempted suicide.

Cancer Researcher Cites New Therapeutic Procedure

CHICAGO (UPI)—Cancer Researcher Thomas J. Dougherty of Buffalo, N.Y., said Monday that the combination of ordinary light rays and certain non-toxic dyes could slow the growth of some cancerous tumors.

Addressing the American Chemical Society, Dougherty said his experiments had found that in certain cases the action of ordinary light on mice treated with the dyes fluorescein and hematoporphyrin could effect temporary remissions of cancerous tumors.

"Before attempting on man what has so far been a highly encouraging new cancer therapeutic procedure, we are attempting to optimize the conditions to achieve complete tumor cell destruction in our experimental animals," he said.

Dougherty, who is associated with the Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo, N.Y., said his technique holds promise for treating a broad range of tumors because its destructive effect is confined to the site of the tumor.

Fluorescein and hematoporphyrin do not collect in normal tissue.

"Our preliminary results at Roswell Park with mice having solid tumors located (implanted) beneath the skin are encouraging," Dougherty said in his paper presented to the chemists.

"Using the required dyes and visible light from either a 500-watt or 1,000-watt light source, we have achieved retardation of growth under most conditions. We have also had temporary arresting and regression of growth in other cases."

The researcher said that with the lowest doses of fluorescein in the experiments "we observed tumor regression beginning after the third day of treatment."

"On the sixth day the control tumors (those not receiving treatment) averaged nearly 50 times the volume of the treated tumors. Regrowth of treated tumors occurred when treatment was stopped."

Dougherty said, "Controls receiving fluorescein only or light only showed no effect."

Black Named To Office

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — The City Council voted Monday to select a black man to fill a council vacancy. Tyrone Crabb is the first black to hold office here.

The city is about 40 per cent black and Puerto Rican, the highest percentage of any city in the state.

Crabb will seek a full four-year term this fall, as a Republican. Previous elective bids by blacks have failed.

Crabb fills the seat vacated by the resignation of Mrs. Mildred Levy, a Republican.

Gilman Back From Tour Of Middle East, Italy

WASHINGTON, D.C. Division-Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Dr. Miller, Israel's Minister of Health. The congressman also met with Israel's Deputy Commander of Police, Y. Carthy.

In Iran, Gilman held conferences with National Iranian Oil Company Assistant Director Dr. Mina; Iranian Foreign Affairs Undersecretary H. E. Fartash; Dr. M. Shahgholi of the Iranian Department of Health; General Soucek, United States Military Attache, and Douglas Heck, American Charge d'Affaires.

While in Turkey, he conferred with Ambassador William Macomber, General Galloway, Chief of JUSMAT and General

Brashwell, Commander of TUSLOG and Donald Ellison, United States Special Narcotics Coordinator.

During the CENTO tour, Gilman discussed security matters with CENTO Secretary General Nassir Assar and E. Yavuzalp, Director General of Turkey's International Security Affairs.

Gilman stated: "This study-trip has afforded me an excellent opportunity of reviewing and discussing, first hand, the problems our nation and the world are confronted with in the Middle East. I have brought back a great deal of valuable information for my work in the House Foreign Affairs Committee."

Bell Brochure On 'No Fault'

ALBANY A brochure explaining the basic provisions of the state's new no-fault automobile insurance law is available through his Albany office, Assemblyman H. Clark Bell (R-101st Dist.) announced today.

No-fault was one of the major pieces of legislation passed in Legislature this year. It was introduced in the Assembly by Bell who carried the measure through a seven-hour floor debate in that house.

Pointing out that the law goes into effect on Feb. 1, 1974, Bell said the brochure, entitled "Facts About No-Fault", contains the basic information every New York State motorist should know about the plan, including its provision for accident victims' benefits, requirements for payment.

methods of compensation, the right to sue, and premium reductions.

"No-fault insurance represents an historic breakthrough in vastly improved treatment of motorists in this State," Bell declared, "and since it is a new concept in New York, I urge a careful reading of the brochure as a means of becoming acquainted with the basic provisions of this consumer-oriented legislation which is expected to result in initial savings for policy holders of $100 million."

For copies of the brochure, write to: Assembly H. Clark Bell, Legislative Office Building, Albany, New York 12223.

Robison Questionnaire Sent to 160,834 Residents

WASHINGTON, D.C. Neither the President nor to the questions posed, Robison ranging from Watergate to people — and both did what Congress really cared about 'the year-round daylight savings time, is being sent to 160,834 residents in the 27th Congressional District by Rep. Howard W. Robison.

The questionnaire, which provides space for a "husband" and "wife" response — contains eight questions. The topics range from the Watergate affair to year-round daylight savings time. The questionnaire uses a postcard format which can be mailed back to Congressman Robison's Binghamton office. In his letter to constituents introducing the questionnaire, Robison said: "Even before 'Watergate' had its impact, many Americans had begun to question the responsiveness of their Federal Government. It had grown too big, and was too remote.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AUGUST 28, 1973

By JACK ANDERSON
and
LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — We can now identify the mystery man of the Watergate investigation, referred to in the Senate testimony as "Chapman's Friend," who spied on the George McGovern campaign for President Nixon during the 1972 campaign.

He is the respected foreign correspondent Seymour Freiden, who covered the Battle of Berlin and later became executive foreign editor for the New York Herald Tribune. He now heads the Hearst newspapers' London office.

He was not employed by Hearst, however, while he was a political spy, but was a free-lance writer. Nor were the Hearst editors aware of his secret role until we notified them.

Not even the Senate Watergate investigators have been able to identify the mysterious "Chapman's Friend." They mistakenly thought columnist-author Victor Lasky was the spy and sent two investigators to interview him.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

'Chapman's Friend' Is Identified

The code name "Mr. Chapman" was adopted during the 1972 campaign by President Nixon's veteran political aide Murray Chotiner. It was the same code name that the late Gov. Tom Dewey used to identify himself in phone calls to Dwight Eisenhower and Richard Nixon during the 1952 campaign.

As the 1972 "Mr. Chapman," Chotiner submitted secret reports on the McGovern campaign to the Nixon managers. These reports included political intelligence from two undercover correspondents who were identified only as "Chapman's Friends."

One was Lucianne Goldberg who divulged her Mati Hari role earlier this month. She traveled on the McGovern campaign plane as a book writer and free-lance contributor to North American Newspaper Alliance and Women's News Service. The other press spy, who had escaped identification until now, was the more secretive Freiden. Each collected $1,000 a week from Chotiner.

Confronted with the results of our investigation, Chotiner acknowledged that Freiden was hired by him as a "reporter" during "a portion of the Democratic primaries and a portion of the time after the McGovern nomination."

'Pull A McGinnis'
After three days of overseas calls, we located Freiden in the Mediterranean. "What I was trying to do," he said, "was to pull a Joe McGinnis." McGinnis worked for the Nixon advertising campaign in 1968 and wrote an inside account called "The Selling of the President."

Freiden said he also had intended to write an "inside book," but vigorously denied that he was a spy. "I never spied," he said. "I gave my unvarnished views" which (Attorney General John) Mitchell told Chotiner were junk.

Freiden said that he submitted both verbal and written reports and that Mitchell complained to Chotiner that he had read the same information in the newspapers. Freiden said that "for a long time I took no money." His total take after he began collecting a salary, he said, amounted to $10,000 or $11,000.

FOOTNOTE: Apparently, we were among those who were duped by Freiden during the 1972 campaign. He frequently visited us and pumped us for campaign information. He also pleaded with us to give his son Joshua a chance to accompany us to Miami Beach for the Democratic convention. We paid Joshua to be a messenger and he had the run of our Miami Beach offices throughout the convention.

Dubious Detergent: Under pressure from the soap makers, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has promised to make a fast decision on the safety of the detergent additive NTA, even though NTA may cause cancer.

Detergents containing NTA were yanked off the market in 1970 when a growing mass of data indicated the chemical might cause cancer and birth defects. A scientific task force was set up to find out just how dangerous the chemical is.

When NTA was first introduced, Proctor & Gamble boasted it eliminated the need for phosphate in laundry powders. NTA and phosphates both get clothes clean. Phosphates, however, contribute to a process called eutrophication — the elimination of oxygen from waterways which makes it impossible for streams and lakes to support life.

In June, New York State joined Indiana and Dade County, Fla., in banning the sale of phosphate detergents. This triggered new pressure from the soapers to bring back NTA.

Hush-Hush Meeting
At a hush-hush meeting in Washington several weeks ago, HEW capitulated and agreed to give an early answer despite a gaping lack of research. For the fact is that HEW is far from completing its probe of NTA's possible pernicious effects.

"The bulk of the data will be available by early 1974," Dr. David Rall of the National Institute of Environmental Health said. "Presumably, we will be able to reach a decision then."

But sources close to the NTA evaluation have told us that scientists have yet to devise some of the tests that must be performed to ascertain how dangerous NTA may be.

Dr. Samuel Epstein of Case Western Reserve University, one of the nation's foremost experts in the field, told us that, despite HEW's claims, researchers have made little real progress on learning the effects of NTA since the chemical was banned.

He acknowledged that private studies have been completed on NTA, but disparaged their conclusions. "It will take years to determine the cancer-causing effects of NTA," he told us.

So the detergent companies are pushing the government to help their profits, whatever the cost may be in future birth defects and cancer cases.

FOOTNOTE: The return of Bryce Harlow, the on-again, off-again Proctor & Gamble lobbyist, as a top White House advisor has added to the pressure on HEW. Although Harlow earnestly asserts he has divorced himself completely from his former and probable future employer's interests, government scientists still believe that Harlow was at least partly responsible for the firing of former Surgeon General Jesse Steinfeld after Steinfeld banned NTA.

Kissinger for Rogers

The resignation of William P. Rogers as Secretary of State to return to head a prestigious law firm with offices in New York, Washington, and Paris, takes the last member of President Nixon's original Cabinet and is a close personal loss for him. For Rogers was the balance wheel in the foreign policy team, while the President himself and his national security advisor, Henry A. Kissinger, were out front of the action.

Now Kissinger will be nominated to head the department and at the same time retain the post of national security advisor, combining policy and execution as George P. Shultz does with Treasury and economic affairs.

Kissinger, a Harvard professor turned foreign affairs advisor, has been in the limelight for his negotiations with the Communist leaders in Peking and long negotiations to end the war in Southeast Asia. Many thought the situation was awkward, with Kissinger's work in diplomacy shelving Rogers'. But the Secretary of State was undaunted. He ran a tight ship at State which supported the policies the President wanted, and made possible their firm execution. Now Kissinger will be the stimulus and the execution. It should be effective.

As for Rogers, he deserves the thanks and well wishes of the American people, whom he has served almost continuously since 1938—as prosecutor, lieutenant commander, chief counsel to the Truman committee, attorney general and secretary of state and member of various United Nations projects. He earned his retirement at 60 to a distinguished place at the bar.

Success Afflicts Japan

Perhaps it will be, for awhile at least, a suspense story. Will the Japanese economic miracle—that began from scratch at World War II's wiping of the slate—hurdle the stickiest wicket, Success?

The old, outmoded stereotype of Japan was that of a nation of slave-wage labor, producing goods that, while shoddy, were low-cost enough to invade almost any world market. In economics, price may not be everything. It is value that in the end is supposed to prevail. But because with mass markets goes mass intelligence, not overly select, economics' name of the game is still Price.

The Land of the Rising Sun, in rebuilding, did make a surprise adjustment. The Japanese moved strongly into the quality fields, primarily technological. Even so, the Japanese priced this better class of goods to undercut the market. (Just one example, in West Germany, where the quality Leica camera is manufactured, half the cameras sold are Japanese imports.)

Economic booms, no less in Japan than elsewhere, have a bubble skin—more boom, thinner stretch. With the resurgence of Japanese world trade, the yen resurged, too. Today, in a sense the one "product" of Japan that it can't hold down to remain competitive is its currency. What Japan exports now (and it must "export or die," as an island empire, as a finished-goods economy lacking in raw resources) has to carry a boosted price tag.

What the Japanese are faced with now is the need of a strategy to bring their exports' prices back in line. It will be interesting, and on the record instructive, to see what the ingenious and determined Japanese will come up with.

How, for instance, will Japan cope with an anticipated cut, in half, of its trade balance with the United States? (Japan's trade surplus with the U. S. was $4.1 billion. This year, the imbalance is expected to fall to $2.1 billion.)

One thrust that Japan has already under way is in Europe. There the Common Market especially has more than decently weathered the money crises that floored the American dollar. The yen and the European currencies are respectably in ratio. But what are Japan's chances of taking up, in Europe, its lost slack in the U. S.?

It won't be easy. The traditional Japanese hard-sell global traveling salesman may find their hands full. "The Japanese are welcome abroad as investors," voiced for the Common Market, "but not as pushers of Japanese goods."

Took the words right out of Japanese mouths. They have already begun to buy and build factories all around Europe. It is a leaf from the U. S., from palmier days, when France feared out loud that "rich" America would soon own Europe. How groundless was that fear, because how quickly since has the U. S. become relatively "un-rich."

Sauce for the Goose Is...

(This first of three columns by Mr. Ryskind, a Pulitzer Prize winner, substituting for Mr. Buckley, who is on vacation.)

By MORRIE RYSKIND

The mail has brought this plea from Mrs. A. E.: "Now that the Erwin Committee has recessed, couldn't you lay off Watergate for a spell? I enjoy your writing, and I'm sure there are plenty of other subjects you could deal with."

The lady is in slight error, for both the staffs of the Erwin and Cox committees are going full blast. If this is a truce, it is a Tet truce, and I oppose unilateral withdrawal. In the same fashion, I resent it that we have adhered to the letter of the pact we signed with Hanoi, while the enemy violates it by still shooting at South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia. And I am further irked by the news that Hanoi is now using the very latest weapons of the USSR, which is presently one of our "most favored nations." Who needs such favors?

Nevertheless, the lady has something. I recall that even in England's darkest hour, when the bombs were falling, the letters in the London papers were full of such discussions as the best way to raise roses. I admire immensely that superb quality of composure, of grace under stress, which exemplifies the best traditions of England.

Ergo — though I probably shan't be good at it, since I come from a tribe that even complains loudly of boils (see the Book of Job) — I shall try to emulate that spirit. Accordingly, I shall not mention the following goings-on I was prepared to find fault with:

Item — The first thing Sen. Lowell Weicker (R-Conn.) did during "recess" was to appear on "Face the Nation" and blast the Nixon Administration. Normally, I would have suggested it was not ethical for a jurist to decide the guilt before all the evidence was in, but I forbear.

Item — One of the many things under investigation is the money received by the Committee to Reelect the President before April 7, 1972, after which date all contributions had to be listed.

But only just now Sen. Baker (R-Tenn.) has decided to publish the record of some $200,000 which he had received prior to that date and not accounted for. Now, what he did was perfectly legal — many campaign contributors made it a point to donate early in order to beat the April 7 deadline. But why, though I hold no brief for CREEP, was it okay for Sen. Baker and wrong of CREEP?

Item — Sen. Talmadge (D-Ga.) accepted a plane ride from a constituent who is an officer in an airline with which the government does business. Now it's obviously nit-picking to say that taking a ride from a long-time friend signified any wrongdoing on the senator's part. Yet it is against the standards the Erwin Committee has espoused — and may be against the law — and Mr. Talmadge has often lectured the various defendants on the avoidance of the semblance of evil.

Item — I likewise pass over the fact that Sen. Montoya (D-New Mex.) "laundered" $100,000 of campaign contributions, which were contributed to committees with neither offices nor members.

He probably had a good reason.

Item — Nor would I stress the fact, pointed out by Victor Riesel, a leading authority on labor for some four decades, of the friendship between Sen. Inouye (D-Hawaii) and the late Jack Hall, head of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union in Hawaii. Some years ago, Inouye paid tribute to Hall in an encomium published in the Congressional Record.

It is possible the Senator was unaware of Hall's pro-Soviet record, or that the ILWU which supported the Senator, had been ousted by the CIO for alleged Communist activity. And it probably isn't relevant that those labor leaders who (says Riesel) "are determined to disgrace Nixon" are among Inouye's strongest supporters and contributors.

And, too, I would overlook the fact that of prosecutor Cox's staff, seven of his chief aides worked for the Kennedys.

And now for the roses. But darn it, my space is filled. I'll have to get to them later.

Washington Calling

MIRVs Bring on Familiar Drama

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — The curtain is going up on an old familiar drama. The scene opens with wild cries of alarm. "The Russians are coming, the Russians are coming," and we are all defenseless, at their mercy, because of a few mushy headed disarmament idiots.

The centerpiece this time is the revelation that the Soviet Union has successfully tested on two of their missiles an independently targeted multiple reentry vehicle (MIRV). The curtain raiser is faithful to the well-tried formula. News of the MIRV breakthrough is leaked to heralds of doom and they promptly set the drums to beating.

This is based, it seems to me, on a fundamental illusion of America's inevitable superiority. It has been true since the beginning of the nuclear age when the United States was the sole possessor of the atomic bomb. Years would pass before the Soviets could come up with a bomb, it was said.

When they tested their first atomic device several years in advance of most estimates it brought a shock of surprise. The parallel with MIRV is close. For more than three years the United States has been installing multiple warheads on land-based missiles and on those carried by Polaris and Poseidon submarines. While Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird warned that the Soviets would develop MIRV, the prevailing belief was that their achievement of this advanced technology was some way off. There was even the suggestion that the Russians might refrain from MIRVing with the hope that this would make it easier to reach agreement in SALT II on limiting the number of offensive missiles.

Any technology the United States can achieve, so can the Soviets. That is the lesson which seems never to be learned as this rerun of the old drama is on once again.

America's MIRV missiles were the reason we could accept the fact of a superior number overall of Soviet missiles without MIRVs. In the next four to five years, as the first Soviet tests move on to deployment, that advantage will disappear.

For the doom sayers not only does this put the nation in deadly peril but it rules out any further effort to arrive at a mutual agreement to cut back strategic armaments. There is, however, a less cataclysmic view. With several years still to go for deployment, the Soviets may regard their MIRV as a bargaining chip in the SALT talks to resume in the fall in Geneva.

On our side we hear a lot about bargaining chips. The $12 billion plus long range submarine trident is justified as a bargaining counter against a reported similar new sub the Soviets are said to have in the works.

With the whole disarmament apparatus so downgraded by the President, the burden of trying to reconcile the new MIRV development will fall on Henry A. Kissinger, advisor on national security affairs. Kissinger played a leading part in the talks between the President and Leonid I. Brezhnev in the White House in June. The surprising news out of those talks was that the two leaders had agreed a limitation on offensive missiles could be reached in 1974.

Kissinger, along with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin, played the central role in the breakthrough on SALT I, first in May, 1971, and then in the climax which came just before the Moscow summit a year later. In the Byzantine atmosphere of the White House he was subjected to attacks from two different directions. First it was leaked that he had been so dovish as to yield to Soviet blandishments and accept a secondary position for the United States. Later his enemies in the White House put it out that he was a supreme hawk who had taken in all his liberal admirers.

One of the imponderables is how much Kissinger has been sideswiped by the Watergate mess. His role at this point is supremely important if the strategic arms race is not to go into a new and perhaps irrevocable spiral. As head of the disarmament and Arms Control Agency, the President named Fred C. Ikle, a gentle, scholarly man whose latest public utterance on the arms race seemed to cast doubt on whether any limitations should be agreed to.

In his official revelations of the Soviet success with MIRV Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger made one statement likely to be downplayed in the current drama. In spite of the new development and what it means for the future, neither the Soviet Union nor the United States has first-strike capacity which could prevent a retaliatory blow. Cruising the seven seas the Poseidon and Polaris submarines would still be able to destroy the attacker.

A WORD OF ADVICE: DON'T GIVE IT

'Striva Kowardsky' Gains Independence In Well-Done Play

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

Winter in Woodstock at a mortgaged house shared by a variety of singles and ex-married, and the natives are restless. But this is no case of ordinary snowbound ennui, as Striva Kowardsky (Marcia Haufrecht) and Michael Ardrey Magee (David Boyle) are about to discover.

Striva wakes up one October morning to a cold house; builds a fire in a woodstove; feeds a dog named Stray; shivers in her winter coat until the heat begins to build; and soliloquizes on Adam and Eve's first argument.

"Shut up," says Adam to Eve. "I am bigger than you are and if you don't shut up, I'm gonna punch you in the nose."

But if her early morning problems seem surmountable — Striva is worse off than she knows. Before the three acts of "The Independence of Striva Kowardsky" have unfolded over a three week period, she will have to see her long-time romance with Michael end; her house a burned-out ruin; and her best friend suffer a nervous breakdown.

Michael has never been easy to live with. A man with a vision, he caters more to the supposed needs of his friends than to the whims of his woman. "I don't want any meat in the house," he says. "I gotta have my head clear." In short, the two haggle constantly.

If this should all add up to heavy drama, it does not. For "Striva Kowardsky" has its fair share of comedy, and some hilariously funny lines of dialogue. It is tragedy-comedy and it is very well done by a highly professional cast of Performing Arts of Woodstock actors currently at Woodstock Town Hall.

As written by Marcia Haufrecht, who also plays the heroine of the title, it offers some very real truths about the perils of contemporary life and women ground up in the struggles of that life.

In the words of its heroine author: "I'm dying and I haven't even lived yet." But, in justice to Michael, she adds: "You don't keep me from living. I've done that to myself." By play's end, Striva is the definitive women's libber. "I'm not going to wait on or for anybody anymore," she insists, arriving at her hard-won independence. Michael, true to form, replies with the eternal question, "Who's gonna do my laundry?"

It all makes for absolutely smashing theatre for it shows

Ms. Haufrecht's strong and substantial flair for writing a totally original play; it boasts fine performances of stature; it is bawdy as well as deep; it throbs with flesh and blood; it is moving; and it handles a semi-nude scene with beauty and perception.

Each member of the cast makes a mark upon the audience. Haufrecht is flawless as Striva. "If you can take your clothes off," she says during a scene in which she peels off her blouse and paints her upper torso in oils, "you can do anything." She then proves it with a non-stop monologue on Greek mythology that is more live theatre than strip tease.

Boyle is excellent as a man of little sentimentality and one who is confident of his skill and the strength of his back. In his first professional performance, Michael Word is highly competent as a parolee befriended by Michael and a sometimes thorn in Striva's side. Reb is as attractive and as Southern as his role Peter Hamilton (another friend Michael takes in) requires.

Rochelle Hass' characterization of divorcee Rhea Dorne is beautifully conceived, and runs the gamut from youthful, carefree elan to a painful probing of personal need that eventually results in insanity. Larry Shufeldt as her ex-husband who refuses her her children is nastily impressive in a very brief role. "I married someone else because you stopped listening to me," he snarls. "She LISTENS."

The comedic flair of John LeFever is at its frolicsome best in a portrayal of a local constable named Biff. Letting down his hair at a pot-smoking session, he is moved to remark: "I need to relax. I've been drinking too much." Dean Schambach, always magnificent in any role, is great again as Striva's uptight father. Holding the mortgage for Michael as a favor to Striva, he is appalled when Michael tears the house apart for remodeling at regular intervals. "I don't want to pay for something that's being torn down," he groans with penny-pinching fervor.

Ralph Santinelli is raucous and convincing as Matthew Emendelman, another mooching friend of Michael's and a bawdy, lecherous lady's man. Joey Fisher as Striva's stepmother is especially good in a very funny crying scene; Kathy Butterfield is pretty, brittle and sophisticated as the wife of music entrepreneur (not-so-loosely based on Woodstocker Alex Grossman, Bearsville Records scion); Jensey Elliott is smashingly attractive as the most appropriately named Gloria Ripley; and Richard Schroeder and Paul Shands are earthy and underkeyed as two rock musicians.

Seeing "The Independence of Striva Kowardsky" is like moving right into someone's living room. It also gives audiences the conviction of how it is in contemporary life for at least one segment of the population in sight and scene and every move. And it renews the faith that new and original theatre is not dead. It lives in Woodstock and you can see for yourself when "Striva" is performed again Sept. 1, 2, 3, 7, 8 and 9 at 8:30 p.m. in Woodstock Town Hall.

There are minor flaws, of course — the occasionally obtrusive mechanics of the plot, a heavy-handed explanation on occasion; a lack of tight technical expertise in staging. But it has the texture of reality in its moments of humor, nostalgia, warmth and suffering — and that makes it come to throbbing and impressive life, depending for much of its success on the talented hand of director Robert Burgos.

HAPPY-GO-LUCKY CAST of "The Independence of Striva Kowardsky" will be taking to the stage again for six more performances. Directed by Robert Burgos and written by Marcia Haufrecht, it's set in Woodstock; is being presented by Performing Arts of Woodstock. (Freeman photo by H. Pete Powell)

Investigation

Detectives of the Kingston Police Department are investigating an overnight burglary at Jimbo's Drive-In Restaurant, 455 Albany Avenue. Entry was gained by climbing through a trap door into the kitchen of the restaurant. A pinball machine and jukebox were rifled, with an undetermined amount of cash stolen.

Trooper Delivers Baby On Headquarters Steps

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — A baby boy was born on the steps of State Police headquarters here with the aid of Trooper Richard Fairchild.

A young Massachusetts woman was being driven to a hospital when she went into labor. Her father pulled his car into the State Police parking lot to seek help. Troopers called an ambulance, but the baby arrived before the ambulance.

State Police declined to release the names of those involved.

Off-Duty Sgt. Apprehends Three Suspects

SAUGERTIES

An alert off-duty Town of Saugerties police sergeant — who was driving an ambulance at the time — apprehended three men late Sunday wanted in Greene County for third degree grand larceny.

Sgt. John Pavlak of the Town of Saugerties police department spotted the three suspects at the northbound Thruway entrance in Saugerties. He stopped the car and detained the three men until officers from the Hunter police department arrived to make the arrest.

A description of the car and the three suspects had been broadcast throughout the area Saturday by Hunter police.

Arrested were Wayne Weatherby, 21, and Richard Hanson, 20, both of Saugus, Mass. and George Harvey, 21, of Revere, Mass. They were committed to the Greene County Jail in lieu of $2,500 each pending further court action at a later date.

The three are accused of stealing "personal items" from a private auto on Route 23A in the Town of Hunter Saturday afternoon.

Wedding Announcements Are Made

Cheryl Ann Sweeney of North Kingstown, R.I., and Nile Andrew Luedtke of 1035 Codwise Street, Kingston, were married Saturday, Aug. 25 in the Chapel in the Pines, Construction Battalion Center, Davisville, R.I. The Rev. Ramsey, chaplain, U.S. Navy, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Sweeney of North Kingstown, R.I. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. Luedtke of Kingston.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose a white empire gown styled with a beaded vest. A beaded Juliet cap held her bridal veil and she carried a bouquet of daisies, chrysanthemums and baby's breath.

Laurie J. Gurdin of Oceanside was maid of honor in a yellow, floor length gown with mint green trim. She wore a mint green picture hat and carried a bouquet of daisies and chrysanthemums.

Attendants were Gail H. Sweeney, sister of the bride; Miss Elizabeth Murtagh, both of North Kingstown, R.I.; Miss Lisa Ronan of Saunderton, R.I. Colleen Sweeney and Norma Jean Sweeney, sisters of the bride, were flower girls.

Attendants were gownned alike in orange, yellow and green floral print chiffon. They wore yellow straw picture hats and carried bouquets of daisies and multicolored chrysanthemums.

The flower girls wore peach and green gowns, respectively, in the empire line, and carried baskets of daisies. Trevor Starick of Des Plaines, Ill., was best man. Ushers were Keith Lewis, North Kingstown, R.I.; Peter Guilmette of Providence, R.I.; and Jeff Hammock of Rhode Island. Daniel Goodale of North Kingstown, R.I., served as ringbearer.

MRS. NILE ANDREW LUEDTKE
(Cheryl Ann Sweeney)
(Loring Studios)

MRS. MICHAEL R. DAWSON
(Theresa M. Fitzpatrick)
(Glendale Studio)

A reception was given at the Chief Petty Officers Club, Quonset Point, R.I.

The bride, a graduate of North Kingstown High School, class of 1972, attended the University of Rhode Island. Her husband, a 1968 alumnus of Kingston High School, earned his BA degree in Chemistry from Hartwick College in Oneonta in 1972, and is a masters candidate at University of Rhode Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Luedtke will reside at 89 West Main Street, North Kingstown, R.I.

Theresa Marie Fitzpatrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Fitzpatrick of 32 Finger Street, Saugerties, exchanged nuptial vows with Michael Robert Dawson, stepson and son, respectively, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owens of 114 Rodney Road, Dover, Del.

The Rev. Father Rooney, CRS, Edgerton, Wisc., officiated at the double ring ceremony at St. Mary of the Snow Church in Saugerties. Wedding selections were provided by Angelo Corrado of Kingston.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She selected an Early American gown of Chantilly lace styled with a fitted waistline, long tapered sleeves and a wedding ring neckline. The gown was fashioned with accents of venise lace and featured a long full skirt which terminated in a chapel train. She wore a chapel-length mantilla trimmed with Chantilly lace and carried a cascade of yellow and white daisies.

Miss Pamela Fitzpatrick, sister of the bride, Saugerties, was maid of honor in a gown of white dotted navy blue nylon. She wore a yellow picture hat with long satin streamers and carried a white basket of yellow and white daisies.

Attendants were Mrs. Karen Robinson, Patty Moser, Peggy Murphy, all of Saugerties; and Mrs. Shelia Wagner of West Hurley. Their gowns were similar to the honor attendant's. They wore white picture hats with long, satin streamers and carried white baskets of yellow and white daisies.

David Dawson, brother of the bridegroom, Dover, Del., was best man. Ushers were Jack Fitzpatrick, Daniel Fitzpatrick, Thomas Fitzpatrick, all brothers of the bride, Saugerties; and Richard Dawson, brother of the bridegroom, Dover, Del. Michael Fitzpatrick, another brother of the bride, was ringbearer.

A reception was given at Holiday Inn, Kingston. Guests attended from as far away as Manchester, Mo.; Raleigh, N.C.; Elizabeth, N.J.; and Merrill, Wisc. The bride, a graduate of Saugerties High School, class of 1971, was employed formerly by the FBI, Washington, D.C.

Her husband, an alumnus of Mannheim American High School, Mannheim, West Germany, was discharged from the U.S. Air Force where he served as Staff Sgt. in the Honor Guard in Washington, D.C. He plans to finish his college education in Delaware.

After a wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania, Mr. and Mrs. Dawson will reside in Dover, Del.

Won't Leave Until She Has New Man

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I are contemplating a divorce. She is 40, I am 38, and we have five children. I am in love with another woman and want to marry her, but I will not leave my wife until I am sure she has somebody else. She knows all about my situation.

Even tho I don't love my wife, I want her to be happy. She is blond, attractive, 5 foot 8 and weighs 115. Money is not a problem. I intend to support her and the children, but I'd feel much better if she had a man. We've been the route of ministers and family counselors, and now I think a professional matchmaker or computer-dating service is in order. Who locates prospective husbands for single women?

want to go the computer or matchmaking route? I'd like to hear her side of it. She may not be programmed to follow your plan.

DEAR ABBY: You said "Freud found sex in the out-house, and brought it into the living room."

I always wondered what ailed Dr. Freud. Now, I know. Imagine, anyone looking for sex in an out-house!

JAMES E. C.
DEAR JAMES: I didn't say Freud LOOKED for it there. I said that's where he FOUND it.

DEAR ABBY: Cold chills ran up my spine when I read the letter from that heartbroken mother, whose daughter, a nurse, was marrying an amputee. (He lost both his legs when he stepped on a mine in Vietnam.) The mother said her daughter was beautiful, and could just as easily have married "a whole man."

I am sure many people think my husband could have married "a whole woman" instead of me. You see, when I was 3, my brother shot me thru the head with a .22 rifle. Thank God I am still alive, altho my left side is paralyzed.

I can walk, and do anything any other woman can do. But best of all, a wonderful man thought I was "whole" enough to marry. He is handsome, kind, and faithful, and he treats me like a queen. We've been happily married for 10 years. I still can't believe my good luck. Sign me.

FREDDY'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: It's more than "luck." You must have a lot going for you. Congratulations.

DEAR ABBY: Here is my solution for that artist who found it hard to paint outdoors (landscapes, etc.) because he always drew a crowd who watched him and sometimes made remarks which distracted him.

I also enjoy painting landscapes, but when they get to chatty, I simply remove my hat and pass it.

I rarely get more than a few coins, but it sure thins out a crowd in a hurry.

UCCC Offers Many Courses for Women

Ulster County Community College stands ready to offer part-time educational opportunities to housewives who have been out of school for five, 10 or, 15 or more years.

Housewives with three to six (or more) free hours a week with nothing to do, can put a "class" or two in their lives by enrolling for part-time study during the day at Ulster.

The College stands ready to aid women interested in taking courses to prevent their responsibilities as wives and mothers from interrupting their education process.

Part-time study also is available for anyone interested in learning new job skills and developing personal interests. Many area residents are enrolled on a part-time basis in such courses as Painting, Typing, Theatre Arts, Principles of Real Estate and Welding for Everyone.

Persons interested in returning to college on a part-time basis should contact the Office of Admissions at UCCC, Stone Ridge.

DINNER MEETING — Members of Ulster County Legal Secretaries Association held a dinner meeting recently at Kurta's Restaurant in Woodstock. Among the principals in attendance were (l-r) Michelle Schwerdtfeger, chairman of the program committee; Fred Johnston, guest speaker; and Deanie Reuner, vice president of the Association. Mr. Johnston, one of the founders of the Historical Landmark Commission in Kingston and the City Beautification Commission, recently resigned as chairman of the commissions which he had served for the past five years. He was advisor at the Henry F. DuPont Museum in Wilmington, Del., for 16 years and was curator of the Van Alstyne Folk Art Collection at the Smithsonian Institute for 18 years.

BAR MITZVAH of C. Gregory Sinsbaugh III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford G. Sinsbaugh Jr. of 36 North Street, Kingston, took place August 16 at Agudas Achim Synagogue, Lucas Avenue, Kingston. Rabbi Howard Gershon officiated, assisted by Cantor Herman Slomovits. (Powell photo)

Jennifer Gavin Takes Marriage Vows Here

Jennifer Diane Gavin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Gavin of Sheldon Hill Road, Olivebridge, became the bride of Timothy Charles Weber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford C. Weber of Webber Lane, Olivebridge, August 11 at St. Gregory's Episcopal Church in Woodstock.

The Rev. David W. Arnold officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Penny Carlson, organist, provided wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a white satin gown accented with pale pink lace. She wore a picture hat and carried a bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and cornflowers, laced with baby's breath.

Mrs. Brenda Van Leuvan of Mountain Road, Shokan, was matron of honor. Attendants were Dawn Weber, cousin of the bride, Olivebridge; Laurel Herdman, West Hurley; Christine Gavin, sister of the bride, Olivebridge; and Donna Kleine, Samsonville. Debbie Weber, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl. They were dressed alike in pastel dotted Swiss gowns. They wore picture hats and carried matching bouquets.

Gary Weber of Olivebridge was best man for his brother. Ushers were Teddy Weber, cousin of the bridegroom, Olivebridge; Robert Van Leuvan, Shokan; Jeffrey Webb, brother of the bridegroom, Olivebridge; Gregg Gavin, brother of the bride, Olivebridge; Mark Weber, brother of the bridegroom, served as ringbearer.

A reception was given at Olivebridge firehall.

The bride is a 1973 graduate of Ontario Central School. Her husband, a 1970 alumnus of Ontario Central School, is assistant manager of Gelco.

After a wedding trip to Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Weber will reside at RD 7, Box 91-A, Kingston.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUISE

Here A Sock,
There A Sock . . .

Dear Heloise:

Being a retired senior citizen widower, I've set up a sort of personal "marriage relations" bureau for my many odd socks.

When one sock in a pair gets a hole in it, I discard it and put the other good sock into a plastic bag. After a few months, I pair these odd singles for a perfect match. If they don't qualify for a perfect match, they stay in the bag till the right candidate comes along.

You'd be surprised how many unholy singles I've been able to get together for a longer useful life for fancy-free feet. It's part of the present day get-together economy and a simple sane philosophy of a retiree toward retaining more "sense" in his economy dollar.

Pairing is sharing — but only when both characters have what it takes to get along together.

A widower Such a clever little story; thank you, sir! One thing for sure, you're a widower with plenty of socks appeal!

Dear Heloise:

When baking cookies yesterday, the recipe called for finely chopped nuts. I don't have a gadget for chopping nuts, so I usually use a knife and end up with a sore thumb.

Yesterday, I didn't have much time so I poured the nuts in a measuring cup and chopped away with a small-sized pizza cutter. I got the job done in no time, saved time and my thumb.

Judy

Dear Heloise:

If your windows in your house are uniform in size, here is a clever little idea.

I didn't have the money for new curtains, but was tired of looking at the old ones, so, having most windows the same size in my house, I put my living room curtains in my bedroom, my dining room drapes in the living room, and the bedroom drapes in the dining room.

It looks and feels like new, and not a penny spent!

Mrs. B. L. Sefhart

Dear Heloise:

For two years I have been harboring a hint and never realized until last night just how much someone might be thankful to know about it.

I had abdominal surgery and developed a horrible tickle in my throat which kept me coughing like crazy. I thought my insides would burst through the incision. I would try to hug myself as hard as I could, but it still hurt like blazes.

When I spoke to a nurse about something to ease the coughing, she told me to hug a pillow. By gosh, it worked!

I do hope that none of my fellow Heloise fans ever need this idea, but if they do, it will be such a help.

Dorothy Zimmermann
It works! And we're grateful, Dorothy.

U. S. Dollar Inches Upward

LONDON (UPI) — The dollar inched upward in European money markets today, reversing Monday's downward trend. Gold's price rose slightly.

The fluctuations in August have little to do with the underlying trend, which is a gradual improvement of the dollar," a Paris banker said.

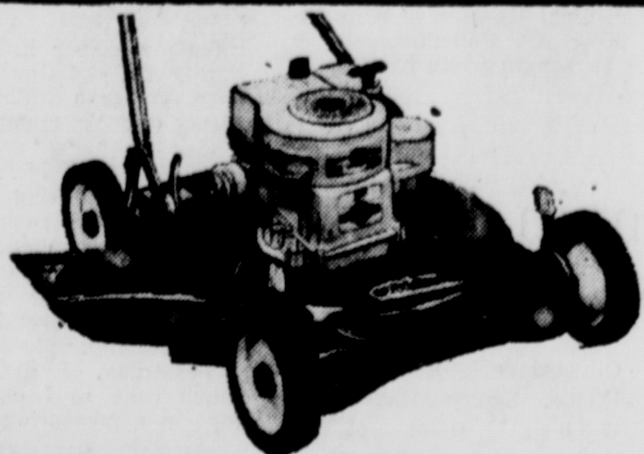

But one factor may have been the announcement from the United States Monday that Chase Manhattan and several other banks had raised their prime interest rate to 9% per cent. The prime rate applies to a bank's most creditworthy customers.

Orioles at 14 and Counting

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
Here is a bulletin for Managers Eddie Kasko, Billy Martin and Ralph Houk, whose teams have slowly been settling into the sunset of what was once a tingling American League East title race.

There's nothing to worry about, boys. There's plenty of time to overtake Baltimore's streaking Orioles, who've won 14 consecutive games. This comes from no less an authority than Earl Weaver, manager of the Birds.

"There's a lot more pressure when you win than when you lose," said Weaver, staggering under the pressure of another victory after the Orioles had defeated Texas 6-1 Monday night.

The rest of the AL East will be pleased to hear that from Weaver. Boston, Detroit and New York were beginning to worry about all those games they had been losing in August. The Orioles' lead remained a comfy five games over Kasko's Red Sox after Boston belted Oakland 5-2. In other AL games Monday night, Minnesota dropped Martin's Tigers another game back, defeating Detroit 5-3, and Chicago whipped Milwaukee 6-1. The other teams were not scheduled.

Baltimore's 14-game winning streak is the longest in the majors since 1965 when San Francisco strung that many together. The last AL team to win that many in a row was the New York Yankees, who won 15 straight in 1961.

Twins 5, Tigers 3
Detroit slipped seven games off Baltimore's pace, losing to Minnesota 5-3 with Rod Carew, the American League's leading batter, ripping three hits and stealing home.

Dan Fife, traded by Detroit to Minnesota for Jim Perry during spring training, came back to haunt the Tigers in his first major league start. Fife allowed just four hits in the seven innings he worked to gain the victory.

White Sox 6, Brewers 1
After seven failures, Wilbur Wood finally won his 21st game of the season, pitching the Chicago White Sox to a 6-1 decision over Milwaukee.

Wood, who has lost 18, surrendered nine hits against the Brewers.

Jorge Orta's leadoff single touched off a three-run White Sox rally that gave Chicago the lead in the fifth inning. Orta added a two-run homer in the eighth.

Red Sox 5, A's 2
Designated hitter Orlando Cepeda drove in three runs with a single, double and a homer, helping Boston defeat Oakland 5-2.

The victory kept the Red Sox five games off Baltimore's blistering pace in the AL East.

In the National League Monday night, Montreal shut out Los Angeles, 4-0. Philadelphia defeated San Francisco 7-4. St. Louis went 14 innings to whip Houston 6-3 and New York edged San Diego 6-5. The other teams had the night off.

Joe Ferguson, with two singles and Willie Davis, with one, were the only hits Rogers allowed the National League's Western Division leaders.

Stinson led off the second inning with a homer and in the eighth inning, he hit a two-run double off reliever Doug Rau after Ron Fairly and pinch-hitter Bob Bailey both walked.

Montreal, in a pennant race for the first time in the club's five-year existence, remained 4½ games behind the St. Louis Cardinals in the NL East. The Dodgers' lead over the idle Cincinnati Reds fell to 3½ games.

St. Louis defeated Houston 6-5 in 14 innings. New York edged San Diego 6-5 and Philadelphia downed San Francisco 7-4 in the only other National League games scheduled.

Utilityman Ken Reitz hit a bases-loaded, two-run single with two out in the 14th inning to give St. Louis its victory over the Astros. The Cardinals loaded the bases on walks to Tommie Agee, pinch-hitter Ken Heintzelman and Mike Kellner. Agee tried to steal home but Reitz fouled off the ball and Agee had to retreat. Two pitches later, Reitz hit a two-run single.

Jim Crawford relieved Jim Ray and Lou Brock greeted him with a run scoring single to give the Cardinals a final run.

Rusty Staub hit his second grand slam homer of the season to lead George Stone and the Mets over San Diego. Staub's 400-foot shot, the fifth slam of his career, was his first homer since July 18 and gave him 14 for the season.

It came in the fifth inning after New York had loaded the bases on a catcher's interference call, the first for a Met in club history, a walk and a bunt single by Felix Millan.

Mike Schmidt belted a three-run homer and doubled in the middle of a two-run sixth inning to lead the Phillies over San Francisco. Schmidt's homer capped a five-run first inning for the Phils and ended an 0-7 slump by the rookie third baseman, Jim Lonzburg 12-10, picked up the win and Jim Barr, 10-14, took the loss.

Plan Four Divisions For Hockey League

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Hockey League owners announced Monday that the league will be realigning into four divisions and adding two new teams. Now it remains to be seen how the National Hockey League players feel about the new program.

Starting with the 1974-75 season, the NHL will be composed of four divisions, two of four teams and two of five, and will play an 80-game schedule—one more home and away game for each team. But the NHL Players Association maintained that an increase in the number of games per

New Rhubarb In Pro Tennis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK (AP) — Professional tennis was plunged into its second major controversy in less than two months Monday, when as many as 20 top pros, including Wimbledon champ Billie Jean King and Australian star John Newcombe, were faced with being barred from the U.S. Open.

The pros could be ruled ineligible to compete in the Open.

Wiltwyck Juniors: Seven MHC Titles

Seven times in the eight years of the Mid-Hudson Golf Classic, the team championship has gone to the powerful Wiltwyck Golf Club. And 1973 was no exception, of course.

Manager A. J. Mancen's Wiltwyck, swingers wrapped up their seventh crown by an aggregate of 206 strokes over second place Catskill, winning the ninth and final match of the season with a 322 score over the Wiltwyck links.

A. J. Mancen Jr. led the squad with 41-37-78. Bob Thomas furnished 41-38-79. Kyle Murray, 42-40-82 and Bill Reilly, 42-41-83.

Woodstock was runnerup with

339. Catskill posted 340, Sawyerkill 382, Rondout 395, Locust Tree 401, Stone Dock 415. Only five teams played all nine matches. The aggregate totals were: Wiltwyck 2916, Catskill 3122, Woodstock 3136, Sawyer-kill 3493, Stone Dock 3671.

John DeForest of Catskill carded 38-38-76 low gross for the final day. A. J. Mancen was runnerup with 78. Bob Thomas 79, Kyle Murray 83, John Carlson (Woodstock) and Bill Reilly, Wiltwyck, 83.

Mancen and Murray tied for low net honors with 72. Thomas posted 73, Jim Stoothoff (Woodstock) 73 and John Carlson, 74.

At the annual luncheon following the final match, Bob Thomas of Wiltwyck was awarded the M. Leslie Denning Trophy for seasonal low gross honors with a 76 average. John DeForest of Catskill was runnerup with 77, followed by Mark Brown 81 and Richard Haines, Catskill, 83.

Four players shared low net honors with 72 average for the season—Mancen, Murray, De-Forest and Brown.

Junior Classic president Werner Kolm and M. Leslie Denning, the tournament chairman, presided at the post-season luncheon served by the Wiltwyck Club.

Kessman's Rally

Kessman's Landscaping, riding a 15-hit attack and Mike Carpino's home run, held off his last inning rally by Circle Cab to win a 14-13 thriller in the B Division of the City Slo Pitch League to highlight the weekend's action.

With teams jockeying for positions in the playoffs which will begin this week, other games saw Polacco's hold on to its C Division lead with a 6-1 victory over White Eagle while surging Eddie's Sunnyside bombed the Hurley Corner Store, 18-13. In the A Division, the Jets and Lou's Astro Subs played out their schedules with the Jets taking a 9-5 decision.

Two games were also forfeited. Tony's conceded an A Division game to Ray's Village Inn, and Alpine handed Alpha-

Portland Cement its second win of the year in the C Division.

Circle Cab, in second place most of the year, failed to get its 11th victory despite 19 hits and a five-run rally in the seventh. Kessman's pushed seven across in the third and five in the fourth, then hung on to gain the victory.

Don Smith racked up a four-hitter in pitching Polacco's to a win. Arnold Smith rapped three of the winners' 11 hits to pace the attack.

Bruce Lucas homered in each of his three times up as Eddie's scored in every inning and kept pace in the division with its tenth win in 12 games. Hurley put up a struggle but failed to score a run after the fourth inning.

The Jets made their nine hits count, overcoming a 13-hit Lou's attack and Rich Clausi's home run. Both teams entered the contest deadlocked at 5-5 in the standings.

Invitational Sets
Change in 1973-74

KINGSTON

A meeting to reorganize the Invitational Classic as a three-man league will be held Thursday at 8 p.m. at Ferraro's Bowlerama. All bowlers with averages of 175 or more are invited.

League president Marty Peterson said teams would be limited to a 555 average ceiling and the league will roll its matches on Thursday nights at 9:15 o'clock. The organization meeting is open to all interested bowlers.

End of the Road
For Nick Eddy

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich.
(UPI) — Injury-plagued Nick Eddy, one-time glamour back who was the last high-priced product of pro football's bidding war, was waived Monday by the Detroit Lions.

The Lions declined to release the identity of any of the 11 players they waived but Eddy was not on the practice field and a phone call to his home confirmed the cutting.

"I gave it my best," the 29-year-old Eddy said. "It's not the end of the world, but it would be tough not having anything to fall back on."

Those Big, Bad Cops Rout Mattachine Softies, 15-0

By RICHARD SISK
NEW YORK (UPI) — It was Woodstock in the bleachers as a police softball team battled their gay activist opponents on a Greenwich Village playground Monday night—all in the cause of understanding.

The team from the 6th Precinct won, 15-0, over the homosexual Mattachine Society but about 20 police complained about gay brutality at the end of the game.

The police gripe was that their opponents had garbage cans filled with beer on their bench. The police had to make do with soda. That's brutality.

The game was organized to foster better relations between police in the village and the gay community.

Whatever the purpose, about 500 fans loved it even though they were decidedly pro-Mattachine.

The cops to a man wore blue dungarees, blue shirts and red caps. The Mattachine team, made up of both men and women, wore lots of things.
The best part for the Mattachines was when the cops came to bat in the top of the first inning.

The muscular leadoff patrolman tapped the plate with authority and leaned into the first pitch. Hips and shoulders swiveled, then his arms swept forward and the wrists lashed the bat through the strike zone.

The ball dribbled back to the pitcher. The bleachers went wild.

The pitcher threw to first baseperson Cheri, who tried to step on the bag and missed.
She then pushed her blonde hair out of her eyes and made the putout.

The fans cheered. But after that, it was all downhill for the Mattachines.

At the end, Officer John Romani, pitcher and coach of the 6th Precinct team, could afford to be magnanimous.
"Win or lose, it was bound to make for better feelings in the community."

A player for the Mattachines took the defeat less philosophically. "Ah shaddup," he said.

Cutdown Day in Football

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — It was cutdown day in pro football, and the biggest cut of all came late Monday night when John Mecom Jr., owner of the New Orleans Saints, announced the release of head coach J.D.
Roberts.

Saying the move was made
"with my sincere regret, much regret," Mecom announced that Roberts was being replaced by John North, the Saints' offensive coordinator and wide receiver coach.

"Certainly no one in pro football has ever worked harder than Coach Roberts did in changing the complete structure of our football team," Me-com said. "His task might have been an impossible one, but his efforts have never slackened, as he turned to young players to build a winner."

"It required a great deal of courage for a man to undertake and continue with the very difficult assignment in face of almost constant outside criticism."

Roberts, 40, who was in the final year of a three-year contract, became head coach for the Saints midway through the 1970 season. The Saints, an expansion team created in 1967, completed under Roberts a 2-11-1 season in 1970, were 4-8-2 in 1971 and 2-11-1 again in 1972, finishing last in the NFC West
each time.

They had lost all four 1973
preseason games.

North, a 51-year-old native of Gilliam, La., was graduated in 1948 from Vanderbilt University, where he played end on the football squad. He played with the Baltimore Colts for three seasons and entered coaching in 1954 with Tennessee Tech. He went to Kentucky in 1956, then to Louisiana State University as an offensive coach in 1962 and joined the Detroit Lions in 1965 for eight years as receiver coach.

He came to the Saints this year.

NEW ORLEANS SHUFFLE—New Orleans head coach, J. D. Roberts (R), whose team won only seven games in his two-and-a-half seasons with the NFL club, was fired Monday by Saints' owner John Mecom. Roberts was replaced with Saints' offensive coordinator John North (L). (UPI)

The others cut Monday were other clubs on the frantic day season. Then they waived kick-all players, as pro football er Jeff White and defensive end teams scrambled to get down The Washington Redskins Ron Fernandez and placed deto the 49-man roster limit. picked up wide receiver Bill

The axe came down with authority at the camp of the Los Angeles Rams, where offensive guard Allan Graf and 11 other players fell victim. Graf, from the University of Southern California, had played in the College All-Star game.

Nick Eddy, a star running back at Notre Dame who had been plagued by injuries
throughout his seven pro years, was one of 11 men placed on waivers by the Detroit Lions.

And before the firing of Roberts, the Saints announced the cuts of Wayne Dorton, Richard Watkins, Gary Arthur and Drew Buie to make the 49-man limit.

Some players were more fortunate—they were traded to

Zena Swimmers, 7-0

ZENA
The Zena Recreation Park took its 7th meet in a row from New Paltz, with a score of 214 to 149, to cap off an undefeated season in the Kingston Area Swim League.

Zena, in its second year of competitive swimming overcame a 1-6 season last year. Under coaches Ed Cheele and Kate Begley, the Zena swimmers emerged first in season swimming and first in boys competition with Callabar taking the Girls' trophy at the League-wide Roundout Invitational.

In Friday's meet, Steve Rubin of New Paltz emerged with four wins, but Morrie McIntyre, Joy Herman, and Pam Arnold of Zena each won three. L. Wassell of New Paltz and Annette Mason, Chuck Mason, Kirk Jacob, Kenny Acquaviva and Steve Turnbull of Zena were double winners.

Winning one for New Paltz were A. King, J. Pesci, M. Rubin, M. Berger, F. Decapna, D. Morrison, P. Morrison and for Zena, Rowena Burgess, Donna Monti, Debbie Arnold, Judy Powers, Sue Barlow, Rex Herman, Howie Liverance, and Joe Hammer.

Final Kingston Area Swim League standings for the 1973 season were Zena (7-0), Callabar (6-1), Hurley (4-2-1), Twaalfskill (3-3-1), Wiltwyck (2-5), Ridgeland (2-5), Roundout (1-6) and New Paltz (0-7).

Pat Harder Scores Twice

SAUGERTIES
Pat Harder racked up a dual victory here at the Sawyerkill Country Club Saturday. Tied after 18 holes with Jim Del Mage, Harder parred the first hole of a sudden death playoff to win the Sawyerkill Junior Championship and in addition took home the Mayor's Trophy as winner of Saugerties' first Junior Golf championship.

The events were run simultaneously with only Sawyerkill members eligible for the club crown. The remainder of the field shot for the open title, but Harder topped everyone and forced Del Mage to settle for the prize as winner of the 14-16 age group.

Harder toured the front nine in 44 to take a one-stroke edge on Del Mage. He slipped to 47 on the back side, however, as Del Mage proved the steadier with a closing 46.

In the other age group competitions, Warren Yetter fired 95 to take the 16-18 title, Ogie Heineck shot 104 for the 12-13 crown, and Chris Kraft carded 124 to win the 10-12 championship.

Calloway winners were also named with Craig Fischer netting 74 on 98.24 for the top prize. Runnerup was the lone female competitor, Trina Van Tassel, with 76 on 122.46, followed by Bob Carpenter at 102.23-77, and Mark Nezhich at 102.24-78.

Gay's Cage Champions

KINGSTON
Gay's, behind 27 points by Darrell Mills, captured the Senior League championships of the Kingston Summer Recreation Basketball League, defeating Timbruck's, 81-67 in the finals of the post-season tournament.

The Mustangs took the Junior crown, whipping the Bullets, 62-38.

Wednesday at the Municipal Auditorium the Junior and Senior loops will each field all star teams to face all star opponents from the New York City Playground League. The Junior battle goes at 6:30 p.m. with the Seniors following at 8 p.m.

Gay's got scoring help from Ray Gay with 19 points and Corey Chambers with 18 points in the win over Timbruck's. Duane Carey and Bob Williams each had 15 to pace the losers.

Tournament trophies will be awarded to Williams, Gay, Chambers, Carey and Mills for their outstanding play.

Mills and Ron Higgins will also receive awards as co-captains of the Mustangs, a team which took the title with eight straight wins after beginning the season with a loss.

Wiggie DeLisio—A Trophy

WOODSTOCK
Wiggie DeLisio fashioned a fine 39-38-77 and netted 77.9-68 to capture the August Monthly Trophy at Woodstock Country Club. The scores were also part of the qualifying round for the 1973 club championships and earned her the No. 1 seed.

Barbara Forno was runnerup with 96-25-71 and Helen Dendy placed third with 100-26-75.

Other leaders included: Gretta Dean, 104-28-76; Mary Lou Loerzel, 104-27-77; Hilda Murphy, 99-21-78; Liz DeWitt, 102-24-78; Alice Marr, 109-31-78; Gloria Allen, 108-29-79; Peter Turnbull, 105-26-79.

The Woodstock women's championships will be played in match play in flights.

Merrill-Feeney Win

KINGSTON
William Merrill Jr. and Mrs. Ted Feeney combined for a best-ball 82-23-59 to win first place in The Twaalfskill Club two-ball foursome event. Brian Feeney and Mrs. Dennis Pitcock were runnersup with 82-22-60.

Other scores were: Jack Edwards-Mrs. Bud Potter, 93-30-63; Dennis Pitcock-Mrs. J. Edwards, 83-17-66; Dr. William Pugliese-Mrs. Bernard Feeney, 91-25-66; William Merrill-Mrs. Richard Avery, 86-20-66; Bernard Feeney-Mrs. Basil Maschowsky, 99-32-67; Basil Maschowsky-Mrs. William Pugliese, 94-26-68; Dr. Douw Meyers-Mrs. William Merrill Jr., 90-22-68.

Closest-to-the hole prizes went to Dr. Meyers, nine feet from the No. 2 hole and Mrs. Avery, 15 feet from the cup on the same hole.

Heinick, Maxwell Tops

SAUGERTIES
Dale Heinick fired an even par 36 to take gross honors and Ken Maxwell shot 42 with a 10 handicap to win the net competition in Sawyerkill's Gross-Net Day event.

Jack Warns was second low gross with 41, while Harry Szarmach and Dave Halpert tied with 42. George Terpening followed Maxwell in the net division with a 34 and Whitey Mecionis, Bill Woven and Don Herdman all came in at 36.

In the Ladies' Day Replay One Shot tournament, Lil Conte captured net with 57-23-34 and Vera Jacobs took gross with 51.

Mrs. Broggi Is Champ

WOODSTOCK
Evelyn Broggi is the 1973 Woodstock Country Club Women's Senior champion. Her net score of 91-22-69 gave her first place over a field that also included Wiggie DeLisio, Peg Sharpe, Peter Turnbull and Ida Morey.

It was erroneously reported that Mrs. DeLisio was the winner. She carded 39-43-82 gross but the Women's Seniors is based on low net.

City Slow Pitch Playoffs Under Way

KINGSTON
The Shaughnessy Playoffs for the slow pitch championship of Kingston got underway at Block Park Monday night with Dederick's Pharmacy posting an impressive 18-5, five-inning victory over the Telephone Boozers.

Two other games were played to decide final standings in the B Division, and in them Kessman's Landscaping defeated Carriage House, 7-5, to win the division pennant, and Keyser's stopped Lansdel, 8-7, for fourth place and a playoff berth.

Dederick's, which roared through the D Division this year with an undefeated, 12-0 record, had little trouble disposing of a hard-hitting Boozers club. A late season surge had pulled the Boozers into third place with an 8-4 slate, but they were no match for the champions.

Tom Bruck slammed his eighth homer of the year, and Ken Whitney also connected to provide winner Carl Strauble with long ball support. While

McCune, who was rolling on the last of three 48-man squads, averaged 235 with an 1.881 pinfall.

As the field of 144 awaited Tuesday's second round in the eight-game set of qualifying, McCune, who has won $60,000 this year, was only 17 pins ahead of two-time champion Gus Lampo, of Endicott, N.Y.

McCune rolled games of 249,

the Landscapers pushed the playoffs, Kessman's against two across in the home sixth Circle Cab, and Carriage House to break a 5-5 tie, then hung against Keyser's.

Dan Jordan cracked two key homers and drove in three, hits good for three RBI's to lift and Scott Miller slammed a solo Keyser's into the playoffs. Both teams had regular season 8-4 win. Both teams will now enter records.

Fast PBA Start For Don McCune
OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—Don McCune, Munster, Ind., right-hander trying for his sixth victory of the year, was off to a fast start Monday as the $170,000 National Championships of the Professional Bowlers Association began a six-day run at Hilander Bowling Palace.

McCune, who was rolling on the last of three 48-man squads, averaged 235 with an 1.881 pinfall.

As the field of 144 awaited Tuesday's second round in the eight-game set of qualifying, McCune, who has won $60,000 this year, was only 17 pins ahead of two-time champion Gus Lampo, of Endicott, N.Y.

McCune rolled games of 249,

216, 225, 227, 224, 226, 215, and 259, while Lampo had high games of 269 and 260.
Barry Asher, Costa Mesa, Calif., was third with 1,836 pins and a high game of 278. Asher has won twice this year and trails McCune in the money standings by less than $10,000.

Rounding out the top five in the tournament which concludes the 13-week summer tour, were Earl Anthony, Tacoma, Wash., and Mike Lemongello, Islip, N.Y., with totals of 1,821 and 1,824.

Highlight of the opening day was a perfect 300 game bowled by Bruce Richie, Seattle, Wash. He had a 1,712 series and was 11th at the end of day which saw 81 bowlers in the field average over 200.

Other flight winners included Dick Gogg, Van Porter, Stan Tatar, Robert Sippel, Dick Dillon and John Weber.

Because of Canadian Paper Mills Strikes

Fewer Comics, Stock Quotations, Baseball Box Scores

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Many New York State newspaper readers are reading fewer comics, stock quotations and baseball box scores because of strikes at Canadian paper mills.

American newspapers receive about 65 per cent of their newsprint supplies from Canada, and the strikes have reduced Canadian daily production from 25,000 tons to 19,000 tons. A nationwide rail strike in Canada has halted all shipments of newsprint to the United States.

The situation may get worse before it improves. The strikes have been limited to 4,500 employees of two major firms—the Canadian International Paper Co., and the Price Co. Ltd.

But another 15,000 newsprint workers, mostly in Ontario, have threatened to join the walkout if negotiations do not bear fruit in the near future. Contract talks have been cut off since Aug. 2.

Editors and publishers of New York State daily newspapers have been looking for ways to save paper while the strike eats into their supplies.

In Syracuse, the Post-Standard and Herald Journal have made plans to suspend temporarily more than a dozen comic strips. Both papers are also reported to have combined their regional editions into single state editions. Late finals will be retained, a spokesman said.

Publisher Stephen Rogers said the strike has cut the Syracuse papers' newsprint deliveries by one third.

The Ithaca Journal reported suspending the New York Stock Exchange and mutual fund listings, two comic strips, a bridge column and engagement pictures. Box scores have been dropped with space-saving line-scores used instead on the sports pages.

The Hudson Register Star has reduced the number of its pages per edition from an average of 24 to the 16-to-18-page range, according to Executive Editor Earl Aronson.

Register Star copy editors have been editing stories more tightly, using wire stories and syndicated columns less often than before the strike.

Aronson said the paper could continue to publish indefinitely with this procedure.

Television listings and other entertainment features have been trimmed in the Lockport Union-Sun Journal, according to Publisher Robert Wilkinson. Other secondary feature material has been eliminated or curtailed.

"We hope, however, to continue daily publication without interruption until the normal supply of newsprint again is available," Wilkinson said.

The labor disputes have forced the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle to drop a few comics, condense stock exchange listings, go to a smaller books page and try a new television magazine format designed to conserve paper. Managing Editor Richard B. Tuttle said.

Gray Fitzpatrick, editor and vice-president of the Olean Times-Herald, said, "We use about 1,900 tons of newsprint a year, and half of that comes from International, so in effect our supplies are about 50 per cent cut off."

He said the paper has had to cut back its content, primarily news, by about 40 per cent. It also has suspended publication of its Saturday weekend supplement and reduced its usual three pages of wire stories to about 1½.

Burt Blazer, editor of the Elmira Star-Gazette, said his newspaper was dropping one of its two comic pages by reducing the size of the strips and making other cuts. Starting Tuesday, stock market quotations will be reduced from two pages to six columns daily and Sunday.

Blazer said these and other steps reduced the paper 14 total pages last week.

The Binghamton Evening Press announced it was discontinuing publishing the complete New York Stock Exchange and partial American Exchange listings.

But the paper said it was publishing an expanded list of stocks of general local interest and the full weekly review of stocks in the Sunday edition.

The Binghamton Sun-Bulletin was dropping its weekly Saturday TV section.

Publisher Robert R. Eckert said both papers were introducing an internal waste control program.

Several newspapers reported they had not been affected seriously by the strikes.

"The situation has not reached that critical stage with the Utica newspapers," said Herman Moecker, publisher of the Daily Press and Observer-Dispatch. But he added, "There is no question of the seriousness of the shortage and we prefer to take steps now than wait for a crisis to overtake us."

Those included publishing some features only in one paper rather than both and dropping the box scores of baseball teams out of pennant contention, he said.

Jack Bertram, general manager of the Geneva Times, said, "We have curtailed our news content by roughly 10 per cent." That included cutting contract basis, said, "We look down the national wire pages on it as being a temporary situation. Our suppliers tell us we will probably be out of the paper by Oct. 1."

The newspaper also has cut in half the circulation of a weekly shopping supplement.

Bertram, who noted the Times buys its newsprint on a week supply now, and we have another carload promised to us." But, he added, hunting for future supplies is requiring every ounce of ingenuity available.

Connor said the Saturday paper has been reduced by about 25 per cent "and we are being cautious on the other days, too. Local news is given priority."

We have cut back on some features, eliminated our picture pages altogether and generally reduced pictures throughout the paper."

Connor said readers have been understanding, an attitude reported by several other newspapers.

for news of the Buffalo Evening News, said the paper normally uses about 3,700 tons of newsprint monthly, but doesn't have a critical supply problem and has made no serious cutbacks in its news columns.

In borderline cases, where the News might normally add a couple of pages, it tries to get by without the extra pages, he said. The News cut its TV listings and related articles from six to four columns. Light also has asked for tighter writing and editing.

Latham B. Weber, editor and president of the Salamanca Republican-Press, said there have

More Than 500,000 Expected to Attend

126th New York State Fair Opens Week-Long Run

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — The 126th New York State Fair opened its gates today to the first of more than 500,000—perhaps 600,000—visitors to the week-long exposition.

More than 30,000 exhibits, a mile-long carnival midway and a $170,000 lineup of professional entertainment await visitors on the 360-acre fairgrounds just west of Syracuse.

Fair Director Bernard W. Potter saw a chance that the fair would surpass the 583,923 turnout in 1972, and perhaps the record 601,478 in 1970, but he said attendance figures were not the primary gauge of success.

"Around 600,000 is a good spot to be at, but we first want our visitors to have a good time, learn a lot from our educational exhibits and then get home safely," he said.

Adult admission is $2, but nearly all events inside the fairgrounds are free of extra charge. Youngsters under age 16 are admitted free the first two days, while those under 12 need pay nothing. The automobile parking fee is $1.

The major entertainment takes place in Empire Court, a grassy area near the main entrance.

Singers Mac Davis and Bob Vinton will be featured in afternoon and evening performances today and Wednesday. Singer Charley Pride follows on Thursday and Friday. The Lawrence Welk show on Saturday and Sunday and a country and western music show Monday featuring Lynn Anderson, Ken Curtis, the Hagers and Grandpa Jones.

The fair began in 1841 as an agricultural exposition, and livestock displays and judging still play an important part.

Demonstrations of veterinary surgery take place daily in a glass-walled operating room.

The sports-minded will find a brand, new, 15,000-seat covered grandstand from which to watch harness horses, motorcycles and stock cars race, a demolition derby and an automobile thrill show.

Top harness horses will compete Thursday and Friday in the New York Sires Stakes for more than $320,000 in prize money—the largest purse ever offered for a two-day racing program in this country.

Over $34,000 in premiums will be distributed during an international horse show that began Saturday and continues daily through the end of the fair. Trick-riding exhibitions will take place between the show-horse competitions.

The opening ceremonies today followed an Indian motif, as members of the Iroquois Confederacy sent up smoke signals to mark the start of activities.

Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz, Agriculture Commissioner Frank Walkley and Walkley's chief assistant, Theodore Day, were ranking state officials at the ceremonies.

Small Banks Feel Pinch In California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A new car buyer in California often can get a lower interest rate at a bank with headquarters in Tokyo, Hong Kong or Montreal than at one based in San Francisco or Los Angeles.

California's small and medium-sized banks are feeling the pinch of such foreign competition and are beginning to fight back. And that fight has plunged the California legislature into the world of international finance.

Thirteen foreign-based banks have California subsidiaries. They compete vigorously for customers by offering a full range of retail banking services, including low-interest loans.

Deposits in their California vaults have grown from $514 million six years ago to $1.6 billion this year. Telephone book listings include the Bank of Tokyo, Sumitomo Bank of California, Hong Kong Bank of California, Bank of Montreal and California Canadian Bank.

The legislative battle has pitted the state's big banks, including the giant Bank of America, against the smaller independent banks.

The battle revolves around two bills designed to stem the growth of foreign banking in the state.

One measure would prohibit any new foreign banks from entering the California market unless their home countries gave California banks the same privileges. It is awaiting a first hearing in the Senate Insurance and Financial Institutions Committee.

A similar bill that has passed the Assembly and is before the Senate committee would prohibit the establishment in California of any more foreign banks that are affiliated with any commercial or industrial businesses.

The foreign banks have hired some high-priced law firms to fight the legislation.

The larger California banks — primarily Bank of America and Wells Fargo Bank — also are fighting the bills. They argue that foreign firms are more likely to buy California products if they have home-country bank outlets here.

The larger banks also fear that countries in which they operate, especially Japan, will retaliate with similar restrictions.

But Michael Rafter, president and chairman of the Central Bank headquartered in Oakland, said foreign banks have an unfair advantage because they have a greater freedom to operate than do their domestic competitors. They are not covered, for instance, by a federal law that prohibits U.S. banks from engaging in non-banking activities such as industrial production.

Rafter said the foreign banks are able to offer lower-interest loans for such consumer goods as autos and television sets because they are "tied in with huge conglomerates that can shift funds around to undercut competitors in our market but we can't play in theirs." He said domestic interest rates. They said.

Your Horoscope

Wednesday, August 29

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Plan to do some entertaining that will make those you love happier and give you much pleasure. You can take the small risk now you have been afraid to do before. Good results will come if you are sure of yourself.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You want to make some additions at home that will please kin and the morning is a good time. Then get busy with business affairs. Entertain at home tonight and make a fine impression.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Set up appointments early and then off to the shopping you have been unable to do before. Make sure that TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't waste a moment of this precious day when you can get much accomplished if you apply yourself early. Find the right kind of clothing to suit your personality. Join good friends socially in p.m.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Don't waste a moment of this precious day when you can get much accomplished if you apply yourself early. Find the right kind of clothing to suit your personality. Join good friends socially in p.m.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Being particularly devoted to the one you love can bring greater harmony for the future. Use your intuition so you come closer to some cherished aim. Much happiness in p.m.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Confide in some good friend if a fine plan you have in mind and get his cooperation so it becomes truly successful. Get into the social circle that most appeals to you in p.m. Converse intelligently.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Fine day for making the right impression on bigwigs in business who will appreciate your ability. Get credit built up. Your success and happiness can increase proportionately to your wise actions of this day.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Seek that data you need so your business operations will meet with far greater success. Making new and clever unusual business matters are well handled. Check your utilities and see if all is in order. Read some in p.m.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Although spending is more your speed, this is a good day to get into those big deals for which you are famous and achieve big results. Get quick advice from that trusted banker first. Then proceed like a general.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Being with good friends is your best bet today, and you can have both pleasant and profitable moments. Group affairs are just your cup of tea. Make sure you do not spend beyond your means.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Sit down and discuss honestly with allies what it is you have in mind and listen to what they have to suggest so you cement far better relations. Plan the future in minute detail. Leave nothing to chance.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those young people who automatically gets fine ideas but is then not certain about them and could lose out because of this, so teach early to have more faith and to act in a positive manner. Parents should give praise early where and when it is due. Fine chart for any profession that requires precision and patience; much success is then possible. Some study of music is good, as well as dancing. A fine mathematician here, too.

Jean Adams'

TEEN FORUM

LEFT OUT: (Q.) I am friendly with a lot of people. That doesn't sound like much of a problem. But all these kids I am friends with are in cliques, and I am not in one.

On weekends and other times when they do things, they go with their own close friends and do not invite me. As a result, I spend my weekends watching TV at home and I am beginning to feel left out. Can you help me?—Unhappy Girl in Virginia

(A.) You are making the mistake that many teens make of thinking that friendship is free and comes to all boys and girls who wait for it to descend upon them.

This is not correct. Friendship requires effort, work, planning. You must find girls and boys you like and you must encourage their friendship.

Do not wait for people to ask you to go some place on a weekend. Ask them. Ask them to visit you at home. Or get up a swimming party. Or a movie party. Ask your parents to help you.

ENCOUNTER: (Q.) I am in the Navy. A couple of weeks ago, on leave, I met a beautiful girl who gave me the reassurance and inspiration to continue on in an otherwise bleak time.

We only talked. I don't even know her full name. I did learn that, like me, she is 19. Should I try to find her again? Or should I forget her?—Blue Boy in Florida

(A.) It is a good idea, especially when one moves around a lot, to get names and addresses or telephone numbers of people who make a strong impression. A person ordinarily doesn't meet but a handful of people like that in a lifetime.

If you have the freedom and time to do so, try to find your new friend. But remember that if you do find her you can't be sure that the same conditions will prevail. Seen again, she may be just a girl to you—not a very special girl.

Outstanding Network Movies

HOLLYWOOD (UPD) — The role of each new television season has come to be an attractive period for viewers who want to catch up on well-known, and often recent, movies that they missed but now are being offered on video.

And the season that begins in several weeks is an example of the network practice of using these films for strategic purposes.

Major motion pictures, and some not so major but with hot stars, have generally proved to be strong ratings-getters, and the competing nationwide broadcasting organizations consider it highly important to get off to a fast start each fall.

Furthermore, a movie with big audience lure can disrupt opposition network lineups in the critical early weeks of a new season by cutting into viewer sampling of series that are trying to establish a foothold amid the shrewd counterprogramming.

And this season, the movies scheduled for airing in the early weeks have an added strategic importance because, with some series premieres delayed by the recent writers' strike, the motion pictures could play a key part in wooing viewers to a network whose programming is still scrambling to get fully organized.

At any rate, here are some of the movies the networks will present in the initial weeks of the upcoming season:

—On Sept. 22, ABC-TV offers "Rosemary's Baby" and NBC-TV has "Cool Hand Luke," with the two films unfortunately in direct competition with each other.

—Sept. 23, ABC-TV has "Funny Girl," the film that brought Barbra Streisand movie stardom.

—On Sept. 5, NBC-TV broadcasts "A Man For All Seasons." And, in an unusual programming move, the network will then rerun it as an afternoon showing on Sunday, Sept. 9, particularly for the benefit of youngsters. "A Man For All Seasons" concerns the historic conflict between Sir Thomas More (Paul Scofield), lord chancellor of England, and King Henry VIII (Robert Shaw).

—On Sept. 15, ABC-TV presents "Irma La Douce," with Shirley MacLaine and Jack Lemmon.

—Sept. 12, NBC-TV offers a rerun of "In the Heat of the Night."

—Over at CBS-TV, there will be a Sept. 13 airing of a jewel heist comedy, "The Hot Rock," starring Robert Redford and George Segal.

—The same night, in competition with "The Hot Rock," ABC-TV presents a sleeper film, "Evel Knievel," with George Hamilton in the title role as the daredevil motorcyclist.

—On Sept. 17, NBC-TV has "Play Misty For Me," for which Clint Eastwood was the director as well as leading man.

—And on Sept. 16, NBC-TV's Walt Disney series begins its 20th television season with the first half of its two-part showing of the movie "The Barefoot Executive," about a chimpanzee who chooses top-rated video programs for a network.

Major movies will, of course, be broadcast throughout the network season. For instance, NBC-TV has set "My Fair Lady" for Thanksgiving Day. And CBS-TV's planned attractions include "Bonnie and Clyde," "The Graduate," "Planet of the Apes," "Beneath the Planet of the Apes," "Hello, Dolly!," "Bullitt," "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie," "Ryan's Daughter" and "Hawaii."

As other examples, CBS-TV's planned reruns include "In Cold Blood," "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner" and "Chitty Chitty Bang Bang."

Tonight, by the way, ABC-TV's "Wide World of Entertainment" series begins a four-part rerun of the epic Russian movie version of "War and Peace," which will be seen on consecutive nights, and is dubbed in English.

Televiewers will, in fact, undoubtedly get their fill of "War and Peace" in coming months. The non-commercial video network says it has scheduled a nine-part British adaptation of the Tolstoy novel for the fall. The network says "it is the longest, most expensive and most lavish production ever attempted by the BBC (British Broadcasting Corp.), taking four years to complete with location filming done in England and Yugoslavia."

Will Handle Cases Under State's New Drug Law

Rockefeller Names 16 Court of Claims Judges

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A reapportionment expert, a woman Liberal and a Democrat for Rockefeller were among 16 persons named as Court of Claims judges to handle narcotics cases under the state's new drug law.

The list, released Monday by the governor's office, also includes an early critic of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's drug program.

Rockefeller appointed them to help out with the expected increase in narcotics cases when the new drug law takes effect Saturday. All will sit in New York City courtrooms.

Dist. Atty. John F. O'Mara of Chemung County criticized the drug plan when it was first announced. He is the immediate past president of the State District Attorneys Association, which fought vigorously against the proposal.

O'Mara, one of those appointed by Rockefeller to the Court of Claims, insisted in a telephone conversation that his difficulties with the law were "all in the past." The new judge emphasized that he agreed with the basic philosophy of a get-tough position on narcotics offenders.

Under terms of the law, convicted sellers of major narcotics drugs as heroin and cocaine may be sent to prison for up to life. The law also limits bargaining to a lesser charge.

The appointments carry a nine-year term. The judges will be paid $37,817 a year—a salary that will rise to $48,998 in 1975 under terms of a bill enacted by the legislature earlier this year.

Rockefeller is empowered to name 68 Court of Claims judges to help out with narcotics cases. They may be assigned to hear the cases or to free other judges to hear drug cases.

The same bill that created additional Court of Claims judgeships also created an additional 23 seats on State Supreme Court to work on narcotics cases, seven County Court judgeships and five Family Court judgeships.

The breakdown of party affiliation, as provided by the governor's office, shows nine Republicans, six Democrats, and one Liberal.

The lone Liberal also is the only woman appointee—Rose L. Rubin, 55, of Queens and a former school board chairman, a former assistant district attorney in Queens.

The other appointees: —Morris Aarons of Manhattan, a Republican, who has served briefly as Civil Court judge, State Supreme Court justice and Surrogate. At 66, he is the oldest of the first batch of appointments. O'Mara is the youngest at 40.

—Donald Zimmerman, 47, of Queens, $37,000-a-year legal consultant to Senate Majority Leader Warren M. Anderson. Zimmerman is the Republican expert on reapportionment. Zimmerman, incidentally, is fond of twitting judges when arguing cases in court.

—Civil Court Judge Joseph Cohen, 47, of the Bronx, Democrat.

—Prof. Richard G. Denzer, 62, of Manhattan, a professor at Fordham Law School, Democrat. He is a former assistant district attorney in Manhattan.

—Civil Court Judge William J. Drohan, 54, of the Bronx, a Republican, a former assemblyman.

—Norman B. Fitzer, 61, of Wellsville, a Republican, formerly served as Allegany County district attorney, Surrogate, Family Court judge, and Supreme Court justice.

—William J. Flynn Jr., 57, of Snyder, a Republican.

—Howard A. Jones, 49, of New Rochelle, now chairman of the State Narcotic Addiction Control Commission, Republican, former assistant district attorney in Manhattan.

—Luigi R. Marano, 52, of Brooklyn, Family Court judge, former state assemblyman, former assistant attorney general, Republican.

—Family Court Judge Duncan S. McNab, 59, of Schenectady, former assistant district attorney, Republican.

—Leon B. Polsky, 42, of Manhattan, attorney in charge of Civil Division of the Legal Aid Society in Manhattan, Democrat.

—Manuel Ramos, 55, of the Bronx, former assemblyman, a Democrat for Rockefeller in 1970.

—Family Court Judge Robert Joseph Sise, 47, of Amsterdam, Democrat.

—John J. Walsh, 54, a prominent Manhattan attorney and former assemblyman, Democrat.

The appointments are subject to confirmation by the New York Senate. Majority Leader Warren M. Anderson promised to establish procedures to speed consideration of the appointees.

Rebozo Is 'Mystery Investor'

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — The White House says President Nixon's Florida banker friend Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo was the mystery investor who joined with New York industrialist Robert H. Abplanalp in the $1.2 million purchase of the bulk of Nixon's 28.9-acre oceanside estate.

Details of the purchase of the palm-dotted spread were released in a voluminous documented statement to "completely and irrevocably" refute

"false impressions and false allegations" that the President's home was financed with funds left over from the 1968 election campaign, the White House said.

Under the deal, Abplanalp, also a close personal friend of the President, and Rebozo paid $1,249,000 for 23 acres of the estate, enabling Nixon to write off $625,000 in unsecured loans from Abplanalp and to purchase the remaining 5.9 acres that includes his homestead at a cost of $340,000.

The third version of the transaction to be made public was prepared by Coopers and Lybrand, a major New York accounting firm, and was described by Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren as the "unprecedented" step in baring a president's personal financial affairs.

(The New York Times reported today Coopers and Lybrand used to be called Lybrand, Ross Brothers and Montgomery, and three top executives of the company were convicted in 1968 of mail fraud and filing false statements. The Times said Nixon gave all three men a complete pardon Dec. 20, 1972.)

White House spokesmen previously had refused to identify the secret partner, or to give the name of the investment company involved. A presidential aide explained that Rebozo had preferred his involvement to remain private.

Reports surrounding the financing of Nixon's properties and the $10 million in government expenditures at the California and Florida White houses for security reasons

NOT TALKING — Martha Mitchell said her husband John, former Attorney General and President Nixon's campaign manager, was "broken up" over the Watergate affair and they no longer were talking to each other. However, she said she plans to stand by him at least until all charges are resolved. Mrs. Mitchell disputed assertions by both her husband and Nixon that they had little conversation during the summer of 1972 and that the President had never been told about the Watergate coverup. Nixon, she said, talked with her husband frequently, and knew about "the whole goddamn thing" (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Dem Governors Blame Nixon For Confidence Breakdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Democratic governors said President Nixon is causing a further deterioration in public confidence in government with his charges that other administrations used wiretaps and burlars.

Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp said Nixon's tendency to blame an assortment of other people for preventing his learning the truth about Watergate also has worsened the situation.

Shapp said Nixon compounded the cynicism about his administration by defending its wiretaps and burglary and by leveling blanket charges that previous administrations did the same.

"That kind of defense is ruinous to the whole political process," said Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan. "It reflects badly on all of us."

Asked if he believed Nixon when he said he didn't plan to cover up the Watergate scandal, Gilligan said:

"I believe the President, in the sense he didn't tape the door (of the Democratic National Committee at the Watergate office building) or tell them how many bugs to plant. But, if he does not accept the blame for it, then who is to blame? Someone is responsible for this conspiracy... Who accepts the authority for it?"

Republican governors here for the executive committee meeting and workshops of the National Governors Conference generally praised Nixon's recent press conference and speech.

But GOP Govs. Daniel Evans of Washington and William G. Milliken of Michigan said they hoped Nixon would voluntarily make public taped conversations he had with key aides about Watergate.

Evans said he still is confident that, when the court rulings are in, Nixon will voluntarily make public the tapes, especially if the courts rule in his favor and say that his executive privilege protects them.

Gov. Patrick J. Lucye, a Wisconsin Democrat, renewed his appeal for Nixon to resign, the only governor on record to do so.

He said Nixon's options are narrowed slightly, now because of allegations against Vice President Spiro T. Agnew that he was involved in a political payoff scheme in Maryland.

But he said Nixon could accept Agnew's resignation, appoint a successor such as New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and then himself resign.

Trudeau Recalls Parliament As Rail Strike Continues

OTTAWA (UPI) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau recalled Canada's Parliament Monday to try to legislate an end to the country's rail strike. He called the strike a "national emergency" and said it is "hurting Canadians everywhere."

Parliament will reconvene Thursday, and Labor Minister John Munro said railways could be operating again by the weekend.

The strike, which began six days ago, has caused massive lay-offs and plant closures in the giant paper and auto industries, stranded thousands of travelers, and curtailed food and grain shipments.

Munro said Parliament could pass a bill to order the 56,000 members of the striking Associated Non-Operating Railway Unions back to work and to prohibit planned walkouts by the 30,000 shopcraft and United Transportation Union members.

But local union leaders called a meeting for Thursday night to discuss the back-to-work legislation with the rank-and-file members, and in British Columbia a spokesman for West Coast union members said "the men are in no mood to return to work."

Trudeau recalled Parliament in a televised speech after Munro failed in a "last chance" effort to reach agreement between the striking rail employees and the 11 railways, including the nation's two largest.

"I want to speak to you as prime minister of a country that must deal quickly with a national emergency," Trudeau said. That emergency is a rail strike. A rotating strike which has now become general. A dispute which continues despite our most intense efforts to negotiate its end. A dispute which is hurting Canadians everywhere.

"We cannot live with such disruptions any longer."

Recalling Parliament constitutes a risk for Trudeau's minority Liberal government. Since once in session it is unlikely the opposition parties will allow Parliament to recess without discussing other major problems facing the nation.

Public Hearing

The Rosendale Town Board will hold a public hearing on the proposed rezoning of property on Route 32 south of Bloomington at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the town clerk's office. It had been incorrectly reported that the meeting would be held at 7 p.m. in the community room. The request is from the Wonderly Company of Kingston to relocate, requiring a change in zoning from residential to industrial.
